

Front Line Nazi Troops Underrated, Say Yankees

By HAL BOYLE
With American troops in Germany, Oct. 6 (Delayed)—It seems to many front-line doughboys who have had to fight their way through the Siegfried line that too much is being made of the mediocrity of German troops captured in these static defenses.

It is true that Hitler is scraping the bottom of his manpower barrel and has thrown into the breach convalescent soldiers, middle-aged home guards and men who are partially deaf or have only one good eye, but as one infantryman remarked:

"It takes only one eye to look along a rifle barrel and one finger to pull the trigger."

These second-rate German troops have another advantage making them formidable to the first-rate American soldiers who are driving them back toward the Rhine. This is the protection afforded by their fixed positions—concrete and steel shelters many feet thick.

Fanatically Loyal
No matter how good a man you may be, you don't find it easy to rout out another fellow who is firing at you from a snug pillbox to which rifle and machinegun fire are no more than great bites.

There is still another side of the story: while Nazi "culls" guard fixed front posts and are captured when these strongpoints are bypassed or surrounded, there is another type of German soldier rarely taken prisoner.

These are the ace combat troops in mobile units which are used to backstop the crumbling German line just as in football roving backs try to block any breach through their forward defensive wall. These are the men who lead flaming counterattacks that slow the American advances and cause the most casualties.

They are young, tough, strong and fanatically loyal. And they like siegehammers.

Reserves Are Thinner
They either fight until they are killed or, if their situation is hopeless, retire in good order to reorganize for a later counterattack. These are the troops that must be destroyed if Hitler and the German army are to be destroyed.

But the Nazis have had to muster these key reserves thinner along the expanding line. After five years, the German youth reservoir is running dry. Hitler no longer has enough young and experienced troops available to plug all the leaks in the vast wall around his falling Reich.

One military oldtimer I talked to estimated that many German troops defending Germany's western borders were convalescent soldiers and a large number formerly were industrial workers taken from bombed-out factories and thrown into the line with only the barest training.

"If My Wife Knew"—
Fauntly veterans of the last war also are being forced back into uniform in increasing numbers and the loyalty and fighting spirit of all these classes is way below par.

Many of them are openly indignant. One sergeant from the last war who was hurriedly summoned up for service at his old rank said his outfit was issued uniforms from the first world war, including the wrap-around leggings. They were put into bunkers after two days' training and told to hold them against the Americans. He said: "This sergeant was bawling mad because he couldn't even write home—his unit hadn't been given an army postoffice number."

"It was done so that our families would have no knowledge of how inhumanly we were treated," he said. "If my wife knew that old man like me were being sent to fighting fronts, she would certainly start a revolution in Germany all by herself."

WILL FOR PROBATE

The will of the late S. May Blocher, of Gettysburg, was entered this morning for probate at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner, at the court house. An application for letters of administration was filed by Mrs. Blocher's two daughters, Mrs. Grace B. Manges and Miss Nellie Blocher, who were named executrices of the estate.

PAYS FINE

Frank Nelson, operator of a tractor-trailer truck for C. B. Route, Kingsport, paid a $10 fine and costs following a hearing this morning before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of reckless driving. Nelson, who gave his home state as Tennessee, was arrested on York street today by Borough Officer Clark W. Staley.

PROPERTY TRANSFER

One deed, recording the transfer of two tracts of farm land totalling approximately 68 acres of Straban township from Fred C. LeVerne M. Schwartz, Jr., New Oxford R. D., to Harry and Jessie Behun, Brownsville, was entered this morning at the register and recorder's office at the court house.

Weather Forecast

Occasional light rain today. Cloudy tonight. Sunday fair and warm.

PROGRAM FOR INSTITUTE IS MADE PUBLIC

County Superintendent of Schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh announced today the complete program for the Adams County Teachers' Institute to be held October 26 and 27 in the Majestic theater and St. James Lutheran church.

Organized under the general theme of "Educational Problems in a World at War," the institute will have as its principal speakers the Rev. Larman Sherwood, blind Methodist minister, and Donald V. Hock, lecturer and counselor-at-law, both from Utica, N. Y.

Other instructors will include Laveria L. Powers, advisor of special education for the Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg; Fred T. Wilhelm, associate director of the consumer education study of the National Education Association, Washington, D. C.; Cecil B. Denning, assistant director, Junior Red Cross, Alexandria, Virginia; Kathleen Wise, reading specialist, New York.

3 Local Ministers

Three Gettysburg ministers will have charge of the devotionals. They are the Rev. Howard S. Fox, pastor of the Trinity Evangelical Reformed church; the Rev. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church; and the Rev. Charles K. Gibson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Prof. Charles L. Yost, music supervisor in the Biglerville public schools, will be in charge of the music. Mrs. Yost will play the accompaniment for songs.

Professor Slaybaugh is general chairman for the institute. Vice chairmen include: William S. Whitely, Principal, Arendsville; Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal, Biglerville; Elmer M. Gruver, supervising principal, East Berlin; Anson M. Hamm, supervising principal, Fairfield; Paul E. King, supervising principal, Littlestown; Clarence P. Keefer, supervising principal, New Oxford; and Dale H. Roth, acting principal, York Springs.

Richard C. Lighter, county vocational education advisor, will be stage manager. Miss Dorothy M. Warner, supervisor of special education, will act as hostess of retired teachers and guests. The registrar will be Miss Margaret M. Brann, supervisor of home economics and Prof. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, is treasurer.

Appointed Ushers

The Thursday morning session will open at 9 o'clock with Professor Stock presiding. The Rev. Mr. (Please Turn to Page 2)

WILL ADDRESS FARM GROUP

M. J. Grimes, agricultural deputy manager of the Pennsylvania Farm Finance committee, will speak at a dinner meeting of the township chairman of the agricultural division of the Adams county War Finance committee next Thursday at the Hotel Gettysburg at 6:30 o'clock. Grimes also will show one or two short motion pictures concerning the Sixth War Loan drive and plans of the drive will be discussed by the township chairman.

The various chairmen who have been invited include E. W. Weaver, county chairman of the agricultural division; Harry C. Brinton, Berwick township; Harvey Raffensperger, Butler township; Felix J. Klunk, Conowingo; Clark Peters, Menallen; Howard S. Schwartz, Mount Joy; Casper Myers, Mount Pleasant; P. C. Fleishman, Oxford; David P. Fikes, Reading; Roy Weaver, Strattan; Zeal Peters, Tyrone.

John Wolff, Union; Emory Fox, Cumberland; John Seale, Franklin; Mervin Bishop, Freedom; Walter F. Crouse, Germany; Helmer Hoover, Hamilton; D. H. Neely, Hamilton; D. R. Hager, Highland; E. J. Smith, Huntington; H. H. Starr, Latimore. M. T. Hartman, county agricultural extension agent, and Harrison P. Snyder, chairman of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration committee for Adams county, also will attend.

Radio service, Baker's Battery Service.

Brothers In Germany

T-5 Charles H. Gilbert (left) and his brother, Sgt. John R. Gilbert, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gilbert, Gettysburg R. I., see each other frequently in Germany where both are now serving with United States army forces, according to letters received from both young men this week by their parents. John serves with the engineers and Charles with a maintenance unit.

They are brothers of T-5 James W. Gilbert, Jr., 28, who received wounds on August 8 in France that resulted in his death on the following day. He was a radio operator with an armored infantry unit.

The Gilberts have an uncle, Major Levi Gilbert, who also is serving overseas.

ROBOMBS POUND SOUTH ENGLAND

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Flying bombs were launched over the North Sea against southern England and the London area Thursday night.

Again the familiar "damage and casualties have been reported" appeared in the official announcement.

One robot burst in the air, another struck a tavern causing damage but no casualties, and another crashed in open ground but its spreading blast wrecked a number of houses and caused casualties.

Three British fighter pilots pounced on one robot after it passed over an East Anglian town and in a simultaneous attack, brought it down in open country.

Mrs. J. Disbrey heard one bomb coming and threw herself across her 16-year-old twin sons, asleep in bed. The bomb wrecked her home and two adjoining houses. Rescuers found the twins dead and Mrs. Disbrey severely injured.

FIRST VESPER SERVICE TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The first of a series of monthly vesper services in charge of the Youth Council of Trinity Evangelical Reformed church will be held in the church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The topic will be "Crusaders of Our Time." Miss Marian Mencher, superintendent of the senior department, will be in charge and will give the Call to Worship. Miss Betty Teeter will have the opening thought and the challenge, "Your Shining Armor," will be given by Robert Saylor. Miss Janice Sachs, guest soloist, will sing "My Task." The responsive Scripture will be led by Howard S. Fox, Jr. Harold Hinkley of Gettysburg college will be the speaker, using the topic "The Cost of Crusading." Ushers for the service will be Milton Hoffman, Harry Spangler, Gene Hertz and Eddie Miller. The senior choir will sing for an offering "To The Knights in the Days of Old." The junior choir will also assist in the service and the Rev. Howard S. Fox, pastor, will pronounce the benediction. While all young people are being urged to attend, adults will also be welcomed.

Following the service an informal hour of fellowship will be held for the young people.

At 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon the Children's League, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Myers, general children's superintendent, will hold its second session of the season. Members of the junior and intermediate departments are included in this group and separate programs of supervised activities for these ages will be conducted during the winter months.

RELIEF PAYMENTS MADE

G. Harold Wagner, state treasurer, announced today that direct relief payments to needy residents of Adams county for the week ending Friday totaled $336.40, the same as a week ago. This week's total was $338.80 more than the comparable week of a year ago.

AGENCIES SEEK TO SPEED JOBS FOR VETERANS

Wilbur P. Gallatin, area director of the WMC Lancaster administrative area, today stated that the War Manpower Commission is concerned as are other interested agencies or government, that the reemployment of veterans of World War II shall be achieved as quickly as possible and in such a manner as will assure their best readjustment to civilian life. The commission does not wish any of the wartime restrictions governing employment to operate against attainment of these objectives. Therefore, the policy of the War Manpower Commission concerning the employment of veterans of World War II is modified in the following manner:

Effective immediately, and in order to exempt the employment of veterans of World War II, consent is hereby given to the hiring of any veteran of World War II without the necessity of a referral from the U. S. Employment Service or of a statement of availability, and without regard to the employer's employment ceiling; and the U. S. Employment Service offices have been instructed to refer veterans of World War II who seek employment through the employment service to jobs of their choice without regard to the essentiality or priority status of such jobs.

All Possible Assistance

Veterans of World War II will not be required to secure or present statements of availability in order to change jobs. They may be hired by an employer without referral by the employment service or other authorized referral channel. Veterans of World War II who seek employment through the employment service will be entitled to a referral as a matter of right, to any job of their choice, without regard to the essentiality of priority status of such job. They may be hired without regard to employment ceilings.

The term veteran of World War II means any individual who has served in the armed forces of the United States subsequent to December 7, 1941, and has an other than dishonorable discharge. The term "armed forces" includes the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard, naval reserve, national naval volunteers, WACS, WAVES, SPARS, and Marine Corps Women's Reserve.

All possible assistance will continue to be given to veterans of World War II who seek employment through the United States Employment Service. Although a veteran of World War II may be referred without regard to priority referral, local offices will continue to offer referral to priority openings and other essential openings to such veterans as may be qualified for and interested in such openings.

WASP COMPLETES COURSE

Elizabeth W. McGeorge, WASP, daughter of Mrs. Katherine McGeorge, Orttanna, and Royal McGeorge, Bridgeport, Pa., has completed an intensive course in instrument flying at Avenger Field, Sweetwater, Texas.

PATRONS FIND FRESH PORK AT MARKET TODAY

Fresh pork arrived at the Farmers' Market house here this morning but few patrons that had neglected to place advance orders were able to buy any of it. Many placed orders for next Saturday's market.

Sausage brought 42 cents a pound; scrapple, two pounds for 35 cents; backbones, 25 cents a pound, and ribs, 28 cents; lard, 17 cents a pound; tenderloin, 50 cents a pound; pigs' feet, 10 cents each; pudding, 30 cents a pound; sliced ham, 45 cents, and ham for roasting, 45 cents a pound. Shoulder meat brought 35 cents a pound.

York Imperial and Stayman apples made their first appearance of the year at market this morning and sold at $3.25 a bushel. Choice Red Rome Beauties brought $1.85 a half bushel and Grimes were $1.75 a half bushel. Delicious could be had at $3 a bushel. Jonathan and Smokehouse could be had at $2 per bushel. Most varieties sold at 20 and 25 cents a quarter peck and 35 to 50 cents a half.

Ripe Persimmons On Sale

Ripe persimmons were 15 cents a pint box. Kieffer pears were offered at $1 and $2 per bushel. They were 10 cents by the quart box.

Scanty supplies of sweet corn sold at 45 and 50 cents a dozen ears. String beans were fairly plentiful at 15 cents a quart box. Turnips brought 15 cents a quart box; lettuce, 10 cents a quart; sweet potatoes, 15 cents a quart, and 25 cents for a two-quart box; carrots, five cents a bunch; winter beets, 10 cents each; home-grown English walnuts, 25 and 35 cents a box; red and green tomatoes, 15 cents a quart box; red and green peppers, three for five cents; cabbage, five cents a pound; potatoes, 20 cents a quarter peck; 40 cents a half and $2.90 per bushel; pumpkins, 10 to 15 cents each.

Dressed chickens sold at 58 cents per pound. Large sized eggs brought 52 cents a dozen. Mediums were offered at 42 cents at some stands. A few asters, glads and mums were on the flower stands.

YOUTH LEADER TO SPEAK HERE

Mrs. Margaret L. Moore, a representative of the International Council of Christian Education, will speak next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in St. James Lutheran church on "The United Christian Youth Movement." It was announced today by Mrs. Russell Stoops, superintendent of the young people's department of the Adams County Council of Christian Education.

Young people of the county, youth leaders, ministers and Sunday school superintendents and all others interested in youth work are specially urged to attend. Mrs. Stoops said.

Mrs. Moore will tell of the purpose and activities of the United Christian Youth movement and the progress being made by cooperative youth work in many parts of the world. She also will describe the work of the Pennsylvania State Youth Council.

Methods of forming youth councils in communities in this county will be outlined and cooperative community projects will be suggested.

Mrs. Moore was one of the speakers for the youth session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, U.S.A., in Chicago, this year and was chairman of the planning committee for the Christian Youth Conference of North America at Lakeside, Ohio, in June.

Rites Held Friday For George E. Fohl

Funeral services for George E. Fohl, 52, who died at his home in Arendsville Tuesday afternoon from a complication of diseases, were held from the late home Friday afternoon conducted by the Rev. A. R. Longenecker. Interment in Greenmount cemetery, Arendsville. The pallbearers were H. D. Heiges, Francis Griffith, Clair Fohl, Walter Fohl, Ralph Golden and Kent Golden.

ENLISTS IN AIR CORPS

Joseph F. Strong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Strong, Fairfield R. D., enlisted recently as an Air Corps. Enlisted Reservist through the AAP examining board, Harrisburg. He will be subject to call within six months after reaching his 18th birthday.

Rightmyer Heads USWV Post Again

George S. Rightmyer was reelected to the post of commander of the William M. Steffy camp of the United Spanish War Veterans of Gettysburg at the annual organizational meeting of the post held here Friday evening.

Other officers named include: Senior vice commander, Percy S. Robinson; junior vice commander, William Bell; adjutant, Clarence L. Nett, re-elected; quartermaster, John A. Zimmerman, re-elected; trustee for three years, Arthur Myers, and officer of the day, Samuel D. Snyder.

The installation will be conducted Friday, November 10, by the new department junior vice commander, John Martz, of Greensburg. At that time Commander Rightmyer will fill appointive offices and name standing committees.

ALUMNI AND FRATERNITIES ARRANGE FETES

Plans for a combination of the annual alumni homecoming and interfraternity week-ends at Gettysburg college over the October 28-29 week-end were announced today at the college publicity office.

In normal times the two events are held in separate week-ends during the fall, but because of the difficulties of transportation and the depleted ranks of the fraternity men on the campus, the celebrations are combined this year as in 1943.

The Saturday, October 28, program will open at 10:30 o'clock in the morning with an alumni council meeting. President William H. Patrick, of Philadelphia, a member of the class of 1916, will preside at the meeting in the auditorium of the Student Christian association building. The meeting is scheduled to last until 12:30 o'clock. Old committee chairmen will make their final reports and new committees will be appointed.

From 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock a joint meeting of the undergraduate fraternity men, both pledges and brothers, and the Alumni Interfraternity conference will be held in the SCA auditorium. Various fraternity problems will be discussed by graduate fraternity men.

Dance Saturday

Fraternity board meetings will be held from 4 to 5:30 o'clock, with plans for such sessions to be made by the individual chapters. The alumni-fraternity dinner is scheduled for 6 o'clock at the Hotel Gettysburg. The dinner is open to all returning alumni, both fraternity and non-fraternity, and also to all undergraduate fraternity men and pledges.

The all college-alumni dance will start in the Edie Plank memorial gymnasium at 9 o'clock, with all alumni, college students and members of the student unit of the Army Air Corps Reserve training corps invited to attend. Activities on Sunday will be in charge of the various fraternity and other organizations on the campus.

Members of the alumni council committee arranging for the weekend are Patrick, C. L. S. Baby, of Philadelphia, and Dr. F. H. Kramer, Prof. E. E. Ziegler and Prof. C. Paul Cessna, of the college faculty. The undergraduate committee is composed of Leslie Schweizer, Karl Knauer, Paul McFarland and Charles Hunsberger.

SECOND LETTER FROM ZIEGLER

Further indication that the War Department telegram of last Wednesday involves a case of mistaken identity in reporting Cpl. Thomas S. Ziegler missing in action in Italy was received this morning when a letter came to Mrs. Ziegler from her husband dated September 29. The War Department said he had been missing in action since September 17.

This morning's letter, in which Corporal Ziegler reported he was well and "everything going okay," is the second Mrs. Ziegler has received bearing dates later than the date mentioned in the War Department telegram.

Ten days before the telegram arrived Mrs. Ziegler had received a letter dated September 20. The War Department is being advised of the conflict of dates and is being asked to investigate the apparent error.

Fire, Explosives Used By Yanks To Rout Stubborn Foe

(By The Associated Press)

London, Oct. 14—U. S. troops routing out Germans with fire and explosives pressed deeper into medieval Aachen today in a house-to-house battle against strengthening resistance, and guns and planes again thwarted Nazi attempts to reinforce the besieged garrison.

The Aachen escape gap now was "as good as closed," an officer at the front said.

But some German reinforcements possibly had slipped into the burning city, and a front dispatch estimated 2,000 Germans were left there, fighting back more desperately now. In five days an American division has taken 1,000 prisoners.

Germans fought as bitterly in Holland. Canadians blockading the escape route for the enemy on Zuid Beveland and Walcheren islands in the northern Schelde estuary were forced on the defensive.

British Make Gain

To the east in Holland, British forces hacked out a gain of more than a mile southeast of Overloon in the sector above Aachen, but progress was slow.

Doughboys using flame-throwers, grenades and machineguns advanced slowly but steadily in Aachen. An attack on the northeast had narrowed the lane from the city. Field artillery and planes hit repeatedly at German reinforcements trying to move in from the east, and prevented any major counter-attack to relieve Aachen.

Eighty-four German tanks had been knocked out in 48 hours through Friday.

Four miles north of Aachen, tank-reinforced Germans threw in stronger pressure, but several counterattacks were dispersed by Allied planes and artillery.

Southeast of Aachen, the Allied communique reported progress near Gemert, 12 miles from Aachen and one mile southwest of Hürtgen, to regain ground lost earlier to a strong enemy counterattack.

Make Rescue Attempt

In Holland the Germans brought up assault guns and tanks below Bergen in an apparent all-out attempt to rescue forces trapped on the Schelde estuary islands. Fighting rose in intensity and Canadians holding the spit of land running to the islands lost the initiative at least temporarily.

Troops that landed on the south bank of the Schelde river near while hit south another 2,000 yards, more than a mile, and now were only 400 yards from joining others.

Two Red Armies Move Toward East Prussia After Fall Of Riga

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Oct. 14 (AP)—Two powerful Red Armies were released today for a thrust southward against East Prussia by the fall of Riga, Latvian capital and last city held by the Germans in the Baltic Republics.

Capture of the Baltic port was announced last night by Marshal Stalin. A city of 355,000, it fell to the troops of Gen. Andrei Yermolenko's second Baltic army and those of Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic army.

Several distinguished visitors to Moscow heard the victory salute of 24 salutes from 324 of the capitals and Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain. Field Marshal Sir Alan Francis Brooke, chief of the British Imperial staff, and Polish Prime Minister Stanislaw Mikolajczyk.

Although the Russian commu-

que said nothing of a direct attack on German soil in East Prussia, Berlin reported massed Soviet tank assaults on the East Prussian garrison at the port of Memel and a large-scale Red Army attack across the Narew river in northern Poland on the lower side of East Prussia.

While the Riga battle was in progress, the Germans attempted an amphibious strike from the sea at Palanga, on the Baltic coast in western Lithuania 14 miles above Memel, but the Russian communique said Red Army planes and artillerymen sank four of 24 barges in which the enemy approached.

Meanwhile the Red Army forces in the south made steady progress through Hungary and Yugoslavia. In Yugoslavia Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukraine army was almost a third of the way across that country in a drive south of Belgrade toward the Adriatic.

Congressmen To Return To U. S.

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Rep. Thomas Miller (R-Pa.), says he and Rep. Griffiths (R-Ohio) expect to return soon to the United States after visiting plane bases and Army camps in England.

Miller and Griffiths, who checked up yesterday on life in off-bomb London denied they were on official business for a Congressional committee and said they were "on their own" and among other things, were looking into the morale of the troops.

er Canadians holding a bridgehead over the Leopold canal.

Americans in France gained ground in the Moselotte river bend southeast of Epinal despite heavy resistance, and struck over rugged terrain to near Cornimont, 22 miles from Epinal, the headquarters bulletin said.

Pressure was maintained from three sides on the town of Le Thillot, 15 miles above Belfort.

Fliers Range Wide

Allied fighters and fighterbombers ranged the whole northern end of the front in effective support of ground troops.

Divebombers American Thunderbolts and Lightnings paved the way for the entry of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' infantry into the German frontier city yesterday. In 48 hours of bitter air and armored combat in the Aachen area the enemy lost 34 tanks and 30 fighter planes.

A reckless attempt by the Germans to push a force through a half-mile wide gap in Hodges' lines surrounding the city was ripped apart by American bombs and shells near Wulseln, three miles north of Aachen. The German force attempting to relieve the Nazis inside Aachen was driven back before it reached the U. S. infantry outposts.

Midway between Aachen and Arnhem, British infantry and American tanks drove forward more than a mile beyond the captured Dutch town of Overloon on a front of nearly four miles, near Venray, three miles southeast of Overloon, and were operating six miles from the Meuse (Moselle) river, which faces the German frontier.

Some Limited Gains

East and southeast of Aachen American troops made limited gains beyond Stolberg and in the Hürtgen forest area.

Continuing the bitter fight to clear the Schelde estuary approaches to the Belgian port of Antwerp, Canadian troops made gains on the estuary's south banks. At the same time their comrades to the south, widening the slim bridgehead across the Leopold canal, fought into the outskirts of the village Eede nearly a mile from the canal.

In northern France, American Third Army troops were locked in hand-to-hand combat with the Germans in Meizelles-les-Metz, six miles north of Metz.

On the southern flank of the Allied line French and American troops seized four villages in driving to within 12 miles of Schlucht pass, 23 miles north of Belfort.

que said nothing of a direct attack

on German soil in East Prussia, Berlin reported massed Soviet tank assaults on the East Prussian garrison at the port of Memel and a large-scale Red Army attack across the Narew river in northern Poland on the lower side of East Prussia.

While the Riga battle was in progress, the Germans attempted an amphibious strike from the sea at Palanga, on the Baltic coast in western Lithuania 14 miles above Memel, but the Russian communique said Red Army planes and artillerymen sank four of 24 barges in which the enemy approached.

Meanwhile the Red Army forces in the south made steady progress through Hungary and Yugoslavia. In Yugoslavia Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukraine army was almost a third of the way across that country in a drive south of Belgrade toward the Adriatic.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Joseph Shanefelter, Littlestown, Jane Lohs, Biglerville, and Mrs. Thomas E. Ott and infant son, Thomas E. Jr., Emmitsburg, have been discharged.

Front Line Nazi Troops Underrated, Say Yankees

By HAL BOYLE

With American troops in Germany, Oct. 6 (Delayed)—It seems to many frontline doughboys who have had to fight their way through the Siegfried line that too much is being made of the mediocrity of German troops captured in these static defenses.

It is true that Hitler is scraping the bottom of his manpower barrel and has thrown into the breach convalescent soldiers, middle-aged home guards and men who are partially deaf or have only one good eye, but as one infantryman remarked:

"It takes only one eye to look along a rifle barrel and one finger to pull the trigger."

These second-rate German troops have another advantage making them formidable to the first-rate American soldiers who are driving them back toward the Rhine. This is the protection afforded by their fixed positions—concrete and steel shelters many feet thick.

Fanatically Loyal
No matter how good a man you may be, you don't find it easy to rout out another fellow who is firing at you from a snug pillbox to which rifle and machinegun fire are no more than gnat bites.

There is still another side of the story: while Nazi "culls" guard fixed frontier posts and are captured when these strongpoints are bypassed or surrounded, there is another type of German soldier rarely taken prisoner.

These are the ace combat troops in mobile units which are used to backstop the crumbling German line just as in football roving backs try to block any breach through their forward defensive wall. These are the men who lead flaming counterattacks that slow the American advances and cause the most casualties.

They are young, tough, strong and fanatically loyal. And they hit like sledgehammers.

Reserves Are Thinner
They either fight until they are killed or, if their situation is hopeless, retire in good order to reorganize for a later counterattack. These are the troops that must be destroyed if Hitler and the German army are to be destroyed.

But the Nazis have had to butter these key reserves thinner along the expanding line. After five years, the German youth reservoir is running dry. Hitler no longer has enough young and experienced troops available to plug all the leaks in the vast wall around his failing Reich.

One military oldtimer I talked to estimated that many German troops defending Germany's western borders were convalescent soldiers and a large number formerly were industrial workers taken from bombed-out factories and thrown into the line with only the barest training.

"If My Wife Knew—"
Paunchy veterans of the last war also are being forced back into uniform in increasing numbers and the loyalty and fighting spirit of all these classes is way below par.

Many of them are openly indignant. One sergeant from the last war who was hurriedly summoned up for service at his old rank said his outfit was issued uniforms from the first world war, including the wrap-around leggings. They were put into bunkers after two days' training and told to hold them against the Americans, he said. This sergeant was boiling mad because he couldn't even write home—his unit hadn't been given an army postoffice number.

"It was done so that our families would have no knowledge of how inhumanly we were treated," he said. "If my wife knew that old men like me were being sent to fighting fronts, she would certainly start a revolution in Germany all by herself."

WILL FOR PROBATE
The will of the late S. May Blocher, of Gettysburg, was entered this morning for probate at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner, at the court house. An application for letters of administration was filed by Mrs. Blocher's two daughters, Mrs. Grace B. Manges and Miss Nellie Blocher who were named executrices of the estate.

PAYS FINE
Frank Nelson, operator of a tractor-trailer truck for C. B. Route, Kingsport, paid a $10 fine and costs following a hearing this morning before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of reckless driving. Nelson, who gave his home state as Tennessee, was arrested on York street today by Borough Officer Clark W. Staley.

PROPERTY TRANSFER
One deed, recording the transfer of two tracts of farm land totalling approximately 68 acres of Straban township from Fred G. LaVerne M. Schwartz, Jr., New Oxford R. D., to Harry and Jessie Behun, Brownsville, was entered this morning at the register and recorder's office at the court house.

Weather Forecast

Yanks Push Deeper Into Aachen

PROGRAM FOR INSTITUTE IS MADE PUBLIC

County Superintendent of Schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh announced today the complete program for the Adams County Teachers' Institute to be held October 26 and 27 in the Majestic theater and St. James Lutheran church.

Organized under the general theme of "Educational Problems in a World at War," the institute will have as its principal speakers the Rev. Larman Sherwood, blind Methodist minister, and Donald V. Hook, lecturer and counselor-at-law, both from Utica, N. Y.

Other instructors will include Laveria L. Powers, advisor of special education for the Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg; Fred T. Wilhelms, associate director of the consumer education study of the National Education association, Washington, D. C.; Cecil B. Denning, assistant director, Junior Red Cross, Alexandria, Virginia; Kathleen Wise, reading specialist, New York.

3 Local Ministers
Three Gettysburg ministers will have charge of the devotionals. They are the Rev. Howard S. Fox, pastor of the Trinity Evangelical Reformed church; the Rev. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church; and the Rev. Charles K. Gibson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Prof. Charles L. Yost, music supervisor in the Biglerville public schools, will be in charge of the music. Mrs. Yost will play the accompaniment for songs.

Professor Slaybaugh is general chairman for the institute. Vice chairmen include: William S. Whiteley, Principal, Arendtsville; Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal, Biglerville; Elmer M. Gruver, supervising principal, East Berlin; Anson M. Hamm, supervising principal, Fairfield; Paul E. King, supervising principal, Littlestown; Clarence P. Keefe, supervising principal, New Oxford; and Dale H. Roth, acting principal, York Springs.

Richard C. Lighter, county vocational education advisor, will be stage manager. Miss Dorothy M. Warner, supervisor of special education, will act as hostess of registered teachers and guests. The registrar will be Miss Margaret M. Brant, supervisor of home economics and Prof. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, is treasurer.

Appointed Ushers

The Thursday morning session will open at 9 o'clock with Professor Stock presiding. The Rev. Mr. (Please Turn to Page 2)

WILL ADDRESS FARM GROUP

M. J. Grimes, agricultural deputy manager of the Pennsylvania War Finance committee, will speak at a dinner meeting of the township chairmen of the agricultural division of the Adams county War Finance committee next Thursday at the Hotel Gettysburg at 6:30 o'clock.

Grimes also will show one or two short motion pictures concerning the Sixth War Loan drive and plans of the drive will be discussed by the township chairmen.

The various chairmen who have been invited include E. W. Weaver, county chairman of the agricultural division; Harry C. Brinton, Berwick township; Harvey Raffensperger, Butler township; Felix J. Klunk, Conewago; Clark Peters, Menallen; Howard S. Schwartz, Mount Joy; Casper Myers, Mount Pleasant; P. C. Fleishman, Oxford; David P. Hykes, Reading; Roy Weaver, Straban; Zeal Peters, Tyrone.

John Wolf, Union; Emory Fox, Cumberland; John Settle, Franklin; Mervin Bishop, Freedom; Walter F. Crouse, Germany; Helmer Hoover, Hamilton; D. H. Neely, Hamilton; D. H. Hager, Highland; E. J. Smith, Huntingdon; H. H. Stary, Latimore. M. T. Hartman, county agricultural extension agent, and Harrison P. Snyder, chairman of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration committee for Adams county, also will attend.

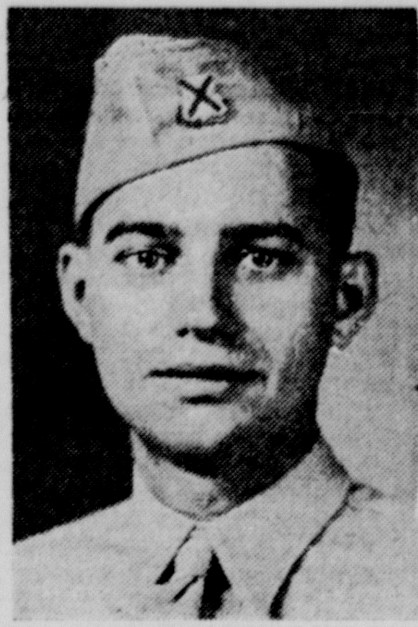

Radio service, Baker's Battery Service.

Brothers In Germany

T-5 Charles H. Gilbert (left) and his brother, Sgt. John R. Gilbert, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gilbert, Gettysburg R. I., see each other frequently in Germany where both are now serving with United States army forces, according to letters received from both young men this week by their parents. John serves with the engineers and Charles with a maintenance unit.

They are brothers of T-5 James W. Gilbert, Jr., 28, who received wounds on August 8 in France that resulted in his death on the following day. He was a radio operator with an armored infantry unit.

The Gilberts have an uncle, Major Levi Gilbert, who also is serving overseas.

ROBOMBS POUND SOUTH ENGLAND

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Flying bombs were launched over the North Sea against southern England and the London area Thursday night.

Again the familiar "damage and casualties have been reported" appeared in the official announcement.

One robot burst in the air, another struck a tavern causing damage but no casualties, and another crashed in open ground but its spreading blast wrecked a number of houses and caused casualties.

Three British fighter pilots pounced on one robot after it passed over an East Anglian town and, in a simultaneous attack, brought it down in open country.

Mrs. J. Disbrey heard one bomb coming and threw herself across her 16-year-old twin sons, asleep in bed. The bomb wrecked her home and two adjoining houses. Rescuers found the twins dead and Mrs. Disbrey severely injured.

FIRST VESPER SERVICE TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The first of a series of monthly vesper services in charge of the Youth Council of Trinity Evangelical Reformed church will be held in the church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The topic will be "Crusaders of Our Time." Miss Marian Menchey, superintendent of the senior department, will be in charge and will give the Call to Worship. Miss Betty Teeter will have the opening thought and the challenge "Your Shining Armor," will be given by Robert Saylor. Miss Janice Sachs, guest soloist, will sing "My Task." The responsive Scripture will be led by Howard S. Fox, Jr.

Harold Hinkeldey of Gettysburg college will be the speaker, using the topic "The Cost of Crusading." Ushers for the service will be Milton Hoffman, Harry Spangler, Gene Hertz and Eddie Miller. The senior choir will sing for an offertory "To The Knights in the Days of Old." The junior choir will also assist in the service and the Rev. Howard S. Fox, pastor, will pronounce the benediction. While all young people are being urged to attend, adults will also be welcomed.

Following the service an informal hour of fellowship will be held for the young people.

At 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon the Children's League, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Myers, general children's superintendent, will hold its second session of the season. Members of the junior and intermediate departments are included in this group and separate programs of supervised activities for these ages will be conducted during the winter months.

RELIEF PAYMENTS MADE

G. Harold Wagner, state treasurer, announced today that direct relief payments to needy residents of Adams county for the week ending Friday totaled $336.40, the same as a week ago. This week's total was $33.80 more than the comparable week of a year ago.

AGENCIES SEEK TO SPEED JOBS FOR VETERANS

Wilbur P. Gallatin, area director of the WMC Lancaster administrative area, today stated that the War Manpower Commission is concerned, as are other interested agencies of government, that the reemployment of veterans of World War II should be achieved as quickly as possible and in such a manner as will assure their best readjustment to civilian life. The commission does not wish any of the wartime restrictions governing employment to operate against attainment of these objectives. Therefore, the policy of the War Manpower Commission concerning the employment of veterans of World War II is modified in the following manner:

Effective immediately, and in order to exempt the employment of veterans of World War II, consent is hereby given to the hiring of any veteran of World War II without the necessity of a referral from the U. S. Employment Service or of a statement of availability, and without regard to the employer's employment ceiling; and the U. S. Employment Service offices have been instructed to refer veterans of World War II who seek employment through the employment service to jobs of their choice without regard to the essentiality or priority status of such jobs.

All Possible Assistance

Veterans of World War II will not be required to secure or present statements of availability in order to change jobs. They may be hired by an employer without referral by the employment service or other authorized referral channel. Veterans of World War II who seek employment through the employment service will be entitled to a referral, as a matter of right, to any job of their choice, without regard to the essentiality or priority status of such job. They may be hired without regard to employment ceilings.

The term veteran of World War II means any individual who has served in the armed forces of the United States subsequent to December 7, 1941, and has an other than dishonorable discharge. The term "armed forces" includes the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard, naval reserve, national naval volunteers, WAVES, SPARS, and Marine Corps Women's Reserve.

All possible assistance will continue to be given to veterans of World War II who seek employment through the United States Employment Service. Although a veteran of World War II may be referred without regard to priority referral, local offices will continue to offer other essential openings to such veterans as may be qualified for and interested in such openings.

ENLISTS IN AIR CORPS

Joseph F. Strong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Strong, Fairfield R. D., enlisted recently as an Air Corps Enlisted Reservist through the AAF examining board, Harrisburg. He will be subject to call within six months after reaching his 18th birthday.

PATRONS FIND FRESH PORK AT MARKET TODAY

Fresh pork arrived at the Farmers' Market house here this morning but few patrons that had neglected to place advance orders were able to buy any of it. Many placed orders for next Saturday's market.

Sausage brought 42 cents a pound; scrapple, two pounds for 35 cents; backbone, 25 cents a pound, and ribs, 28 cents; lard, 17 cents a pound; tenderloin, 50 cents a pound; pigs' feet, 10 cents each; pudding, 30 cents a pound; sliced ham, 48 cents, and ham for roasting, 45 cents a pound. Shoulder meat brought 35 cents a pound.

York Imperial and Stayman apples made their first appearance of the year at market this morning and sold at $3.25 a bushel. Choice Red Rome Beauties brought $1.85 a half bushel. Delicious could be had at $3 a bushel. Jonathan and Smokehouse could be had at $2 per bushel. Most varieties sold at 20 and 25 cents a quarter peck and 35 to 50 cents a half.

Ripe Persimmons On Sale

Ripe persimmons were 15 cents a pint box. Kieffer pears were offered at $1 and $2 per bushel. They were 10 cents by the quart box.

Scanty supplies of sweet corn sold at 45 and 50 cents a dozen ears. String beans were fairly plentiful at 15 cents a quart box. Turnips brought 15 cents a quart box; lettuce, 10 cents a quart; sweet potatoes, 15 cents a quart and 25 cents for a two-quart box; carrots, five cents a bunch; winter beets, 10 cents each; home-grown English walnuts, 25 and 35 cents a box; red and green tomatoes, 15 cents a quart box; red and green peppers, three for five cents; cabbage, five cents a pound; potatoes, 20 cents a quarter peck; 40 cents a half and $2.90 per bushel; pumpkins, 10 to 15 cents each.

Dressed chickens sold at 58 cents per pound. Large sized eggs brought 52 cents a dozen. Mediums were offered at 42 cents at some stands. A few asters, glads and 'mums were on the flower stands.

YOUTH LEADER TO SPEAK HERE

Mrs. Mareena Idle Moore, a representative of the International Council of Christian Education, will speak next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in St. James Lutheran church on "The United Christian Youth Movement." It was announced today by Mrs. Russell Stoops, superintendent of the young people's department of the Adams County Council of Christian Education.

Young people of the county, youth leaders, ministers and Sunday school superintendents and all others interested in youth work are specially urged to attend. Mrs. Stoops said.

Mrs. Moore will tell of the purpose and activities of the United Christian Youth movement and the progress being made by cooperative youth work in many parts of the world. She also will describe the work of the Pennsylvania State Youth Council.

Methods of forming youth councils in communities in this county will be outlined and cooperative community projects will be suggested.

Mrs. Moore was one of the speakers for the youth session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, U.S.A., in Chicago, this year and was chairman of the planning committee for the Christian Youth Conference of North America at Lakeside, Ohio, in June.

Rites Held Friday For George E. Fohl

Funeral services for George E. Fohl, 82, who died at his home in Arendtsville Tuesday afternoon from a complication of diseases, were held from the late home Friday afternoon conducted by the Rev. A. R. Longenecker, Interment in Greenwood cemetery, Arendtsville. The pallbearers were H. D. Heiges, Francis Griffy, Clair Fohl, Walter Fohl, Ralph Golden and Kent Golden.

Rightmyer Heads USWV Post Again

Other officers named include: Senior vice commander, Percy S. Robinson; junior vice commander, William Bell; adjutant, Clarence L. Nett, re-elected; quartermaster, John A. Zimmerman, re-elected; trustee for three years, Arthur Myers, and officer of the day, Samuel D. Snyder.

The installation will be conducted Friday, November 10, by the new department junior vice commander, John Martz, of Greensburg. At that time Commander Rightmyer will fill appointive offices and name standing committees.

ALUMNI AND FRATERNITIES ARRANGE FETES

Plans for a combination of the annual alumni homecoming and interfraternity week-ends at Gettysburg college over the October 28-29 week-end were announced today at the college publicity office.

In normal times the two events are held in separate week-ends during the fall, but because of the difficulties of transportation and the depleted ranks of the fraternity men on the campus, the celebrations are combined this year as in 1943.

The Saturday, October 28, program will open at 10:30 o'clock in the morning with an alumni council meeting. President William H. Patrick, of Philadelphia, a member of the class of 1916, will preside at the meeting in the auditorium of the Student Christian association building. The meeting is scheduled to last until 12:30 o'clock. Old committee chairmen will make their final reports and new committees will be appointed.

From 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock a joint meeting of the undergraduate fraternity men, both pledges and brothers, and the Alumni Interfraternity conference will be held in the SCA auditorium. Various fraternity problems will be discussed by graduate fraternity men.

Dance Saturday

Fraternity board meetings will be held from 4 to 5:30 o'clock, with plans for such sessions to be made by the individual chapters. The alumni-fraternity dinner is scheduled for 6 o'clock at the Hotel Gettysburg. The dinner is open to all returning alumni, both fraternity and non-fraternity, and also to all undergraduate fraternity men and pledges.

The all college-alumni dance will start in the Eddie Plank memorial gymnasium at 9 o'clock, with all alumni, college students and members of the student unit of the Army Air Corps Reserve training corps invited to attend. Activities on Sunday will be in charge of the various fraternity and other organizations on the campus.

Members of the alumni council committee arranging for the week-end are Patrick, C. L. S. Raby, of Philadelphia, and Dr. F. H. Kramer, Prof. E. E. Ziegler and Prof. C. Paul Cessa, of the college faculty. The undergraduate committee is composed of Leslie Schweizer, Karl Knauer, Paul McFarland and Charles Hunsberger.

SECOND LETTER FROM ZIEGLER

Further indication that the War Department telegram of last Wednesday involves a case of mistaken identity in reporting Cpl. Thomas S. Ziegler missing in action in Italy was received this morning when a letter came to Mrs. Ziegler from her husband dated September 29. The War Department said he had been missing in action since September 17.

This morning's letter, in which Corporal Ziegler reported he was well and "everything going okay," is the second Mrs. Ziegler has received bearing dates later than the date mentioned in the War Department telegram.

Ten days before the telegram arrived Mrs. Ziegler had received a letter dated September 20. The War Department is being advised of the conflict of dates and is being asked to investigate the apparent error.

Fire, Explosives Used By Yanks To Rout Stubborn Foe

(By The Associated Press)

London, Oct. 14—U. S. troops routing out Germans with fire and explosives pressed deeper into medieval Aachen today in a house-to-house battle against strengthening resistance, and guns and planes again thwarted Nazi attempts to reinforce the besieged garrison.

The Aachen escape gap now was "as good as closed," an officer at the front said.

But some German reinforcements possibly had slipped into the burning city, and a front dispatch estimated 2,000 Germans were left there, fighting back more desperately now. In five days an American division has taken 1,000 prisoners.

Germans fought as bitterly in Holland. Canadians blockading the escape route for the enemy on Zuid Beveland and Walcheren islands in the northern Schelde estuary were forced on the defensive.

British Make Gain

To the east in Holland, British forces hacked out a gain of more than a mile southeast of Overloon in the sector above Aachen, but progress was slow.

Doughboys using flame-throwers, grenades and machineguns advanced slowly but steadily in Aachen. An attack on the northeast had narrowed the lane from the city. Field artillery and planes hit repeatedly at German reinforcements trying to move in from the east, and prevented any major counter-attack to relieve Aachen.

Eighty-four German tanks had been knocked out in 48 hours through Friday.

Four miles north of Aachen, tank-reinforced Germans threw in stronger pressure, but several counterattacks were dispersed by Allied planes and artillery.

Southeast of Aachen, the Allied communiqué reported progress near Germeter, 12 miles from Aachen and one mile southwest of Hurlingen, to regain ground lost earlier to a strong enemy counterattack.

Make Rescue Attempt

In Holland the Germans brought up assault guns and tanks below Bergen in an apparent all-out attempt to rescue forces trapped on the Schelde estuary islands. Fighting rose in intensity and Canadians holding the spit of land running to the islands lost the initiative at least temporarily.

Troops that landed on the south bank of the Schelde river meanwhile hit south another 2,000 yards, more than a mile, and now were only 4,000 yards from joining others.

Two Red Armies Move Toward East Prussia After Fall Of Riga

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Oct. 14 (AP)—Two powerful Red Armies were released today for a thrust southward against East Prussia by the fall of Riga, Latvian capital and last city held by the Germans in the Baltic Republics.

Capture of the Baltic port was announced last night by Marshal Stalin. A city of 385,000, it fell to the troops of Gen. Andrei Yermenko's second Baltic army and those of Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic army.

Several distinguished visitors to Moscow heard the victory salute of 24 salvos from 324 of the capital's guns—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain, Field Marshal Sir Alan Francis Brooke, chief of the British Imperial staff, and Polish Prime Minister Stanislaw Mikolajczyk. (Although the Russian communi-

Congressmen To Return To U. S.

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Rep. Thomas Miller (R-Pa.), says he and Rep. Griffiths (R-Ohio) expect to return soon to the United States after visiting plane bases and Army camps in England.

Miller and Griffiths, who checked out yesterday on life in off-bomb London denied they were on official business for a Congressional committee and said they were "on their own" and among other things, were looking into the morale of the troops.

er Canadians holding a bridgehead over the Leopold canal.

Americans in France gained ground in the Moselotte river bend southeast of Epinal despite heavy resistance, and struck over rugged terrain to near Cornimont, 22 miles from Epinal, the headquarters bulletin said.

Pressure was maintained from three sides on the town of Le Thillot, 15 miles above Belfort.

Fliers Range Wide

Allied fighters and fighterbombers ranged the whole northern end of the front in effective support of ground troops.

Divebombers American Thunderbolts and Lightnings paved the way for the entry of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' infantry into the German frontier city yesterday. In 48 hours of bitter air and armored combat in the Aachen area the enemy lost 84 tanks and 30 fighter planes.

A reckless attempt by the Germans to push a force through a half-mile wide gap in Hodges' lines surrounding the city was ripped apart by American bombs and shells near Wulseln, three miles north of Aachen. The German force attempting to relieve the Nazis inside Aachen was driven back before it reached the U. S. Infantry outposts.

Midway between Aachen and Arnhem, British infantry and American tanks drove forward more than a mile beyond the captured Dutch town of Overloon on a front of nearly four miles, near Vanray, three miles southeast of Overloon, and were operating six miles from the Maas (Meuse) river, which faces the German frontier.

Some Limited Gains

East and southeast of Aachen American troops made limited gains beyond Stolberg and in the Hurtgen forest area.

Continuing the bitter fight to clear the Schelde estuary approaches to the Belgian port of Antwerp, Canadian troops made gains on the estuary's south banks. At the same time their comrades to the south, widening the slim bridgehead across the Leopold canal, fought into the outskirts of the village Eede nearly a mile from the canal.

In northern France, American Third Army troops were locked in hand-to-hand combat with the Germans in Mezieres-les-Metz, six miles north of Metz.

On the southern flank of the Allied line French and American troops seized four villages in driving to within 12 miles of Schlucht pass, 28 miles north of Belfort.

que said nothing of a direct attack on German soil in East Prussia. Berlin reported massed Soviet tank assaults on the East Prussian garrison at the port of Memel and a large-scale Red Army attack across the Narew river in northern Poland on the lower side of East Prussia.)

While the Riga battle was in progress, the Germans attempted an amphibious strike from the sea at Palanga, on the Baltic coast in western Lithuania 14 miles above Memel, but the Russian communiqué said Red Army planes and artillerymen sank four of 24 barges in which the enemy approached.

Meanwhile other Red Army forces in the south made steady progress through Hungary and Yugoslavia. In Yugoslavia Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukraine Army was almost a third of the way across that country in a drive south of Belgrade toward the Adriatic.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Joseph Shanefelter, Littlestown; Jane Lohs, Biglerville, and Mrs. Thomas E. Ott and infant son, Thomas E., Jr., Emmitsburg, have been discharged.

Front Line
Nazi Troops
Underrated, Say Yankees

By HAL BOYLE
With American Troops in Germany, Oct. 6 (Delayed)—It seems to many frontline doughboys who have had to fight their way through the Siegfried line that too much is being made of the mediocrity of German troops captured in these static defenses.

It is true that Hitler is scraping the bottom of his manpower barrel and has thrown into the breach convalescent soldiers, middle-aged home guards and men who are partially deaf or have only one good eye, but as one infantryman remarked:

"It takes only one eye to look along a rifle barrel and one finger to pull the trigger."

These second-rate German troops have another advantage making them formidable to the first-rate American soldiers who are driving them back toward the Rhine. This is the protection afforded by their fixed positions—concrete and steel shelters many feet thick.

Fanatically Loyal
No matter how good a man you may be, you don't find it easy to rout out another fellow who is firing at you from a snug pillbox to which rifle and machinegun fire are no more than gnat bites.

There is still another side of the story; while Nazi "culls" guard fixed frontier posts and are captured when these strongpoints are bypassed or surrounded, there is another type of German soldier rarely taken prisoner.

These are the ace combat troops in mobile units which are used to backstop the crumbling German line just as in football roving backs try to block any breach through their forward defensive wall. These are the men who lead flaming counterattacks that slow the American advances and cause the most casualties.

They are young, tough, strong and fanatically loyal. And they hit like sledgehammers.

Reserves Are Thinner
They either fight until they are killed or, if their situation is hopeless, retire in good order to reorganize for a later counterattack. These are the troops that must be destroyed if Hitler and the German army are to be destroyed.

But the Nazis have had to butter these key reserves thinner along the expanding line. After five years, the German youth reservoir is running dry. Hitler no longer has enough young and experienced troops available to plug all the leaks in the vast wall around his failing Reich.

One military oldtimer I talked to estimated that many German troops defending Germany's western borders were convalescent soldiers and a large number formerly were industrial workers taken from bombed-out factories and thrown into the line with only the barest training.

"If My Wife Knew"—
Paunchy veterans of the last war also are being forced back into uniform in increasing numbers and the loyalty and fighting spirit of all these classes is way below par.

Many of them are openly indignant. One sergeant from the last war who was hurriedly summoned up for service at his old rank said his outfit was issued uniforms from the first world war, including the wrap-around leggings. They were put into bunkers after two days' training and told to hold them against the Americans, he said. This sergeant was boiling mad because he couldn't even write home—his unit hadn't been given an army postoffice number.

"It was done so that our families would have no knowledge of how inhumanly we were treated," he said. "If my wife knew that old men like me were being sent to fighting fronts, she would certainly start a revolution in Germany all by herself."

WILL FOR PROBATE
The will of the late S. May Blocher, of Gettysburg, was entered this morning for probate at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner, at the court house. An application for letters of administration was filed by Mrs. Blocher's two daughters, Mrs. Grace B. Manges and Miss Nellie Blocher who were named executrices of the estate.

PAYS FINE
Frank Nelson, operator of a tractor-trailer truck for C. B. Route, Kingsport, paid a $10 fine and costs following a hearing this morning before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of reckless driving. Nelson, who gave his home state as Tennessee, was arrested on York street today by Borough Officer Clark W. Staley.

PROPERTY TRANSFER
One deed, recording the transfer of two tracts of farm land totalling approximately 68 acres of Straban township from Fred G. LaVerne M. Schwartz, Jr., New Oxford R. D., to Harry and Jessie Behn, Brownsville, was entered this morning at the register and recorder's office at the court house.

Weather Forecast
Occasional light rain today. Cloudy tonight. Sunday fair and warmer.

Ushers for the service will be Milton Hoffman, Harry Spangler, Gene Hertz and Eddie Miller. The senior choir will sing for an offertory "To The Knights in the Days of Old." The junior choir will also assist in the service and the Rev. Howard S. Fox, pastor, will pronounce the benediction. While all young people are being urged to attend, adults will also be welcomed.

Following the service an informal hour of fellowship will be held for the young people.

At 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon the Children's League, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Myers, general children's superintendent, will hold its second session of the season. Members of the junior and intermediate departments are included in this group and separate programs of supervised activities for these ages will be conducted during the winter months.

RELIEF PAYMENTS MADE

G. Harold Wagner, state treasurer, announced today that direct relief payments to needy residents of Adams county for the week ending Friday totaled $336.40, the same as a week ago. This week's total was $33.80 more than the comparable week of a year ago.

PATRONS FIND FRESH PORK AT MARKET TODAY

Fresh pork arrived at the Farmers' Market house here this morning but few patrons that had neglected to place advance orders were able to buy any of it. Many placed orders for next Saturday's market.

Sausage brought 42 cents a pound; scrapple, two pounds for 35 cents; backbone, 25 cents a pound, and ribs, 28 cents; lard, 17 cents a pound; tenderloin, 50 cents a pound; pigs' feet, 10 cents each; pudding, 30 cents a pound; sliced ham, 45 cents, and ham for roasting, 45 cents a pound. Shoulder meat brought 35 cents a pound.

York Imperial and Stayman apples made their first appearance of the year at market this morning and sold at $3.25 a bushel. Choice Red Rome Beauties brought $1.85 a half bushel and Grimes were $1.75 a half bushel. Delicious could be had at $3 a bushel. Jonathan and Smokehouse could be had at $2 per bushel. Most varieties sold at 20 and 25 cents a quarter peck and 35 to 50 cents a half.

Ripe Persimmons On Sale

Ripe persimmons were 15 cents a pint box. Kieffer pears were offered at $1 and $2 per bushel. They were 10 cents by the quart box. Scanty supplies of sweet corn sold at 45 and 50 cents a dozen ears. String beans were fairly plentiful at 15 cents a quart box. Turnips brought 15 cents a quart box; lettuce, 10 cents a quart; sweet potatoes, 15 cents a quart and 25 cents for a two-quart box; carrots, five cents a bunch; winter beets, 10 cents each; home-grown English walnuts, 25 and 35 cents a box; red and green tomatoes, 15 cents a quart box; red and green peppers, three for five cents; cabbage, five cents a pound; potatoes, 20 cents a quarter peck; 40 cents a half and $2.90 per bushel; pumpkins, 10 to 15 cents each.

Dressed chickens sold at 58 cents per pound. Large sized eggs brought 52 cents a dozen. Mediums were offered at 42 cents at some stands. A few asters, glads and mums were on the flower stands.

YOUTH LEADER TO SPEAK HERE

Mrs. Mareena Idie Moore, a representative of the International Council of Christian Education, will speak next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in St. James Lutheran church on "The United Christian Youth Movement." It was announced today by Mrs. Russell Stoops, superintendent of the young people's department of the Adams County Council of Christian Education.

Young people of the county, youth leaders, ministers and Sunday school superintendents and all others interested in youth work are specially urged to attend. Mrs. Stoops said.

Mrs. Moore will tell of the purpose and activities of the United Christian Youth movement and the progress being made by cooperative youth work in many parts of the world. She also will describe the work of the Pennsylvania State Youth Council.

Methods of forming youth councils in communities in this county will be outlined and cooperative community projects will be suggested.

Mrs. Moore was one of the speakers for the youth session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, U.S.A., in Chicago, this year and was chairman of the planning committee for the Christian Youth Conference of North America at Lakeside, Ohio, in June.

Rites Held Friday For George E. Fohl

The pallbearers were H. D. Heiges, Francis Griffy, Clair Pohl, Walter Pohl, Ralph Golden and Kent Golden.

ENLISTS IN AIR CORPS

Joseph P. Strong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Strong, Fairfield R. 2, enlisted recently as an Air Corps Enlisted Reservist through the AAP examining board, Harrisburg. He will be subject to call within six months after reaching his 18th birthday.

Rightmyer Heads USWV Post Again

George S. Aightmyer was reelected to the post of commander of the William M. Steffy camp of the United Spanish War Veterans of Gettysburg at the annual organizational meeting of the post held here Friday evening.

Other officers named include: Senior vice commander, Percy S. Robinson; junior vice commander, William Bell; adjutant, Clarence L. Nett, re-elected; quartermaster, John A. Zimmerman, re-elected; trustee for three years, Arthur Myers, and officer of the day, Samuel D. Snyder.

The installation will be conducted Friday, November 10, by the new department junior vice commander, John Martz, of Greensburg. At that time Commander Rightmyer will fill appointive offices and name standing committees.

ALUMNI AND FRATERNITIES ARRANGE FETES

Plans for a combination of the annual alumni homecoming and interfraternity week-ends at Gettysburg college, over the October 28-29 week-end were announced today at the college publicity office.

In normal times the two events are held in separate week-ends during the fall, but because of the difficulties of transportation and the depleted ranks of the fraternity men on the campus, the celebrations are combined this year as in 1943.

The Saturday, October 28, program will open at 10:30 o'clock in the morning with an alumni council meeting. President William H. Patrick, of Philadelphia, a member of the class of 1916, will preside at the meeting in the auditorium of the Student Christian association building. The meeting is scheduled to last until 12:30 o'clock. Old committee chairmen will make their final reports and new committees will be appointed.

From 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock a joint meeting of the undergraduate fraternity men, both pledges and brothers, and the Alumni Interfraternity conference will be held in the SCA auditorium. Various fraternity problems will be discussed by graduate fraternity men.

Dance Saturday

Fraternity board meetings will be held from 4 to 5:30, o'clock, with plans for such sessions to be made by the individual chapters. The alumni-fraternity dinner is scheduled for 8 o'clock at the Hotel Gettysburg. The dinner is open to all returning alumni, both fraternity and non-fraternity, and also to all Stoops, superintendent of the young people's department of the Adams County Council of Christian Education.

The all college-alumni dance will start in the Eddie Plank memorial gymnasium at 9 o'clock, with all alumni, college students and members of the student unit of the Army Air Corps Reserve training corps invited to attend. Activities on Sunday will be in charge of the various fraternity and other organizations on the campus.

Members of the alumni council committee arranging for the week-end are Patrick, C. L. S. Raby, of Philadelphia, and Dr. F. H. Kramer, Prof. E. E. Ziegler and Prof. C. Paul Cessa, of the college faculty. The undergraduate committee is composed of Leslie Schweizer, Karl Knauer, Paul McFarland and Charles Hunsberger.

SECOND LETTER FROM ZIEGLER

Further indication that the War Department telegram of last Wednesday involves a case of mistaken identity in reporting Cpl. Thomas S. Ziegler missing in action in Italy was received this morning when a letter came to Mrs. Ziegler from her husband dated September 29. The War Department said he had been missing in action since September 17.

This morning's letter, in which Corporal Ziegler reported he was well and "everything going okay," is the second Mrs. Ziegler has received bearing dates later than the date mentioned in the War Department telegram.

Ten days before the telegram arrived Mrs. Ziegler had received a letter dated September 20. The War Department is being advised of the conflict of dates and is being asked to investigate the apparent error.

Fire, Explosives Used By Yanks To Rout Stubborn Foe

(By The Associated Press)

London, Oct. 14—U. S. troops rooting out Germans with fire and explosives pressed deeper into medieval Aachen today in a house-to-house battle against strengthening resistance, and guns and planes again thwarted Nazi attempts to reinforce the besieged garrison.

The Aachen escape gap now was "as good as closed," an officer at the front said.

But some German reinforcements possibly had slipped into the burning city, and a front dispatch estimated 2,000 Germans were left there, fighting back more desperately now. In five days an American division has taken 1,000 prisoners.

Germans fought as bitterly in Holland. Canadians blockading the escape route for the enemy on Zuid Beveland and Walcheren islands in the northern Schelde estuary were forced on the defensive.

British Make Gain

To the east in Holland, British forces hacked out a gain of more than a mile southeast of Overloon in the sector above Aachen, but progress was slow.

Doughboys using flame-throwers, grenades and machineguns advanced slowly but steadily in Aachen. An attack on the northeast had narrowed the lane from the city. Field artillery and planes hit repeatedly at German reinforcements trying to move in from the east, and prevented any major counter-attack to relieve Aachen.

Eighty-four German tanks had been knocked out in 48 hours through Friday.

Four miles north of Aachen, tank-reinforced Germans threw in stronger pressure, but several counterattacks were dispersed by Allied planes and artillery.

Southeast of Aachen, the Allied communiqué reported progress near Germeter, 12 miles from Aachen and one mile southwest of Hurlingen, to regain ground lost earlier to a strong enemy counterassault.

Make Rescue Attempt

In Holland the Germans brought up assault guns and tanks below Bergen in an apparent all-out attempt to rescue forces trapped on the Schelde estuary islands. Fighting rose in intensity and Canadians holding the spit of land running to the islands lost the initiative at least temporarily.

Troops that landed on the south bank of the Schelde river meanwhile hit south another 2,000 yards, more than a mile, and now were only 4,000 yards from joining other

Two Red Armies Move Toward East Prussia After Fall Of Riga

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Oct. 14 (AP)—Two powerful Red armies were released today for a thrust southward against East Prussia by the fall of Riga, Latvian capital and last city held by the Germans in the Baltic Republics.

Capture of the Baltic port was announced last night by Marshal Stalin. A city of 355,000, it fell to the troops of Gen. Andrei Yermenko's second Baltic army and those of Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic army.

Several distinguished visitors to Moscow heard the victory salute of 24 salvos from 324 of the capital's guns—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain, Field Marshal Sir Alan Francis Brooke, chief of the British Imperial staff, and Polish Prime Minister Stanislaw Mikolajczyk. (Although the Russian communique said nothing of a direct attack on German soil in East Prussia, Berlin reported massed Soviet tank assaults on the East Prussian garrison at the port of Memel and a large-scale Red Army attack across the Narew river in northern Poland on the lower side of East Prussia.)

While the Riga battle was in progress, the Germans attempted an amphibious strike from the sea at Palanga, on the Baltic coast in western Lithuania 14 miles above Memel, but the Russian communiqué said Red Army planes and artillerymen sank four of 24 barges in the enemy approach.

Meanwhile other Red Army forces in the south made steady progress through Hungary and Yugoslavia.

In Yugoslavia Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukraine Army was almost a third of the way across that country in a drive south of Belgrade toward the Adriatic.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Joseph Shanefelter, Littlestown, James Lehrs, Biglerville, and Mrs. Thomas E. Ott and infant son, Thomas E., Jr., Emmitsburg, have been discharged.

ULCA SESSION TO NOMINATE NEW OFFICERS

Minneapolis, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Committee on Nominations was scheduled to make its report to the convention of the United Lutheran Church in America at the opening of this morning's session here. At the conclusion of the morning meeting, the election for membership on all board not previously named, will be held.

Greetings of Twin Cities Lutheran presidents were extended at last night's meeting which was presided over by U.L.C.A. President J. A. Aagaard. R. H. Gerberding, president of the English Evangelical Lutheran Synod of the Northwest, responded.

The Board of American Missions reported late yesterday that church activities have been deeply shaken by the war and pointed out that the biggest need of the church is men for the ministry.

Jewish Liberties

"If all chaplains now in the service were to return to civilian life tomorrow and all the seminary seniors were to be ordained at once, there would not be enough to shepherd vacant parishes," Dr. Zena M. Corbe, New York city, declared.

The board said neglected negro and rural areas and the demand for work among the nation's war-working migrants were the fields where ministers were needed today. The church now has 762 home mission congregations with a total membership of 137,791.

Dr. Arnold F. Keller, Urica, N. Y., proposed a resolution pledging church support in the preservation of Jewish liberties throughout the nation. The resolution was approved.

PROGRESS SLOW IN NORTH ITALY

Rome, Oct. 14 (AP)—British and American troops supported by low flying fighters and fighter bombers hammered our small gains in furious fighting yesterday against a fanatical German defense of the Po valley.

Allied headquarters announced that Fifth Army troops seized some new hills in the central sector south of Bologna, while Eighth Army forces to the east pushed the Germans back along the entire battle line, except in the Adriatic coastal sector.

At the same time it was disclosed that another contingent of Brazilian troops had arrived in the battle zone. The original Brazilian expeditionary force, which has been operating in difficult country on the west flank of the U. S. Fifth Army push to Bologna, yesterday captured Coreglia, five miles northwest of Bagnoli di Iacocca.

American troops fought their way up Hill 462, about nine miles southwest of Castel San Piero, on the Bologna-Rimini highway.

Along Highway 68, the main road north of Bologna from Florence, there was intense fighting. West of the highway American units pushed forward about two miles and captured Mount di Bambiana.

Martin Charges Padded Payrolls

Westfield, Mass., Oct. 14 (AP)—Major General Edward Martin, Republican Governor of Pennsylvania, says that the "left wing has taken over the New Deal, just as the New Deal took over the historic Democratic party of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson."

In an address delivered at a Republican rally last night, the Pennsylvania governor said "there are issues that we must not forget."

"We must not forget the tremendous pre-war national debt, or the non-war additions to that debt piled up since Pearl Harbor."

"We dare not forget that the Federal payrolls are padded to buy this election and that more than 3,000,000 Federal workers will march to the polls to vote for the fourth term candidate," Martin said.

Governor Bricker On Radio Tonight

Sacramento, Calif., Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker, "condemning" what he called political implications in reasoning asserted today that the recent release of farm machinery from rationing "unconscionable" was facilitated by the fact the election day is approaching.

The Republican candidate for vice president in a prepared text released by his campaign staff, said the Sept. 6 announcement that 17 processed foods would be removed from rationing was made from the White House, and added:

"Ordinarily an announcement of this sort would be made by the OPA but this is an election year. Nov. 7 is circled in red on the White House calendar."

The Ohio governor moved into California after two days of campaigning in Oregon. He will deliver what his staff described as another major address in San Francisco tonight, broadcast at 8:30, Pacific war time, over a Pacific coast (Mutual) network.

STEEL STRIKE MAY BE AVOIDED

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (AP)—A settlement reached late yesterday between representatives of the Midvale company, steel manufacturers, and Federal Labor Union No. 18,687 (AFL), in an effort to avert a strike approved Thursday in balloting conducted under the Smith-Connally act, was before workers today for approval.

No date has been set for a union meeting on the settlement, which if acceptable to the 2,400 workers affected by the issue in dispute, will be submitted to the National War Labor Board.

Meanwhile, Alexander I. Dever, president of the union, appealed to the 7,000 employees of the firm to stay on their jobs despite the vote of 5,026 to 818 in favor of the strike. Results of the strike vote have been certified to President Roosevelt.

The employees affected by the dispute, seek compensation for Saturday and Sunday overtime wages lost when premium pay for the two days, as such, was prohibited by presidential order. The union claims approximately $150,000 in back pay and has rejected several compromise offers by the company.

Two War Labor Board panels have heard arguments of the case, but there have been no final decisions.

Vets' Committee Formed By Martin

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Martin announced today the formation of a governor's advisory committee on veterans affairs to operate under supervision of the state veterans commission.

Martin said the new committee is designed to keep him advised on necessary requirements of the several state departments to properly coordinate rehabilitation, job placement and administration of all benefits to which discharged Pennsylvanians are entitled.

Large Force Hit Formosa 2-Way Blow

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press War Editor

A "large force" of land-based B-29 Superfortresses slashed at Formosa today in a flaming two-way attack which Tokyo headquarters said was coordinated with a third day's bombing of the island by carrier planes.

Increasing aerial fury over the fortress underlined a Japanese admiral's warning to his people that the American offensive precluded an invasion of the Philippines. He added that landing operations against Formosa and the Ryukyus islands also were possible behind this vast bomb curtain.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the 20th air force, reported that a "large force" of Superfortresses made today's assault and said details would be announced when received.

100 Planes in Raid

A broadcast Japanese communiqué, heard by the Federal Communications commission, said 100 Superfortresses made the raid, following two morning attacks by 450 carrier planes.

There was no confirmation of today's carrier plane attack. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced that fleet air raids Wednesday and Thursday (U. S. time) on Formosa resulted in this destruction: 376 Japanese planes destroyed, 27 ships sunk, 14 ships probably sunk, 26 ships damaged and 37 small craft sunk or damaged.

This heavy, plus extensive damage to military installations, led to belief that an estimated 150,000 Japanese troops in the Philippines have been cut off from effective reinforcement through Formosa. Their inter-island communications are highly vulnerable.

Guerrillas Active

At the same time a Japanese official in Manila reported that "American guerrillas" were harassing Nipponese communication lines in the Philippines and the puppet government's counter measures had "not been satisfactory."

From Monday through Thursday—in attacks on the Ryukyus islands, Formosa and the nearby Pescadore islands and the Philippines—American naval forces have destroyed 520 to 525 airplanes and have sunk or damaged 143 ships and more than 87 small craft. The totals since August 30 are 1,497 planes destroyed and 89 damaged, 428 ships sunk or damaged and 247 small craft sunk or damaged.

All Ships Safe

Not a single American surface vessel was damaged. Japanese aircraft attacked an American task force off Formosa Wednesday night but were repulsed. A total of 43 American planes were lost over Formosa and eight planes, five pilots and three air crewmen over the Ryukyus.

Tokyo claimed the destruction of six American carriers, four other warships and 160 planes.

No Japs on Palau

Nimitz announced the end of all organized Japanese resistance in the southern Palau, where the Americans held 12 islets. Nipponese remnants still remain on Peleliu and Angaur.

Japanese field dispatches claimed the capture of Kweiping, 70 miles southeast of Lieuchow, below Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi province. The Chinese high command previously reported the Japanese had broken into the city.

British troops in India beat off a Japanese counterattack east of Meidim.

PROGRAM FOR

Fox will be in charge of the devotional period, and Professor Roth will lead in the pledge of the flag. Professor Slaybaugh will deliver his address of welcome and Professor Yost will sing a solo. At 10:40 o'clock Cecil B. Denning will speak on "Junior Red Cross Activities in the Public Schools," following which Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams county War Finance committee, will speak on "Schools at War."

Two subjects, "Standard Practices in School Lighting" and "Meeting the Needs of Superior Children," will be discussed by Leversia L. Powers at 11:20 o'clock. Adjournment will be at 12 o'clock. Withholds to Speak

Platform guests at the morning session will include Professors Whiteley, Gruver, Hamm and King. Departmental programs will open the Thursday afternoon session at St. James church. Fred T. Withelms will address the meeting of high school principals and teachers on "Consumer Education"; the elementary principals and teachers will witness a demonstration in reading by pupils from the fourth grade of the New Oxford school under the direction of Miss Z. Ruth Sponseller. Miss Wise also will speak. Discussion will follow both programs at the sectional meetings.

Professor Slaybaugh will preside at the general session at 2:30 o'clock in the adult Sunday school room, and the Rev. Mr. Sherwood will deliver his address at 3 o'clock. Supplies and textbook exhibits may be viewed at the Hotel Gettysburg annex from 3:45 to 5 o'clock.

Professor King will preside Friday morning and the Rev. Mr. Gibson will conduct the devotionals. Business will include the report of the nominating committee of which Clarence P. Keefer is chairman; election of officers; report of the resolutions committee, Professor Hamm chairman; treasurer's report; and a discussion from the floor of old and new business.

At 10 o'clock Miss Jean E. Taylor, a senior in the Arendtsville vocational school, will present a vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. Elma S. Deardoff.

Chorus To Sing

Mr. Hock will give his first address, "Aladdin Had a Lamp," beginning at 10:10 o'clock. Following his talk a male chorus from the Arendtsville vocational school will sing. The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Deardoff, is composed of the following boys: John Allison, Robert Allison, Charles Baker, George Fissel, William Guise, Richard Hall, Charles Lady, Gilbert Lipp, Sterling Singler, Richard Slaybaugh, Edwin Stoner, Richard Swisher, William Warren and Leroy Zeigler.

Mr. Shetter, chairman of the ushers, will report on the election of officers at 11:35 o'clock, and following an address by Mrs. Eise Stigmaster Levens, chairman of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross, the session will adjourn to the St. James church for the banquet.

Platform guests at the morning session will include Professors Stock, G. P. Keefer, Roth, McCauslin and Alma A. Henry.

Professor Bream, as toast master, will introduce the retired teachers and guests after the dinner and a male quartette under the direction of Professor Yost, will sing. Mr. Hock will give his second address on "The Rebirth of a Nation," and at its conclusion the session will be adjourned.

Members of the nominating committee include Clarence P. Keefer, New Oxford; Professor Whiteley; G. Howard Danner, Berwick township; Cecil R. Snyder, Biglerville; Verna O. Stock, Butler township; John M. Wisler, Conewago township; Laura E. Roy, Freedom township; Alma A. Henry, Hamilton township; Norman D. Starry, Letimore township; and J. Blaine Bushey, Menallen township.

The resolutions committee has these members: Professors Hamm, Stock, Gruver, McCauslin; Edgar J. Smith, Huntingdon township; Lloyd L. Stavelly, Littlestown; Gladys V. Robert, Mount Joy township; Carrie E. Dicks, Reading township; Zora M. Stambaugh, Strasburg township and Eleanor C. Wolfinger, York Springs borough.

The nominating committee will name at least eight candidates, four of whom will be elected by ballot during the business session. The candidates receiving the two highest numbers of voters will be declared the delegates to represent Adams county at the Pennsylvania State Education Association convention in Harrisburg December 27 to 29. The candidates receiving the next two highest numbers will be alternates.

Two teachers, elected from a slate of at least four candidates, will be named auditors to audit the accounts of the teachers' institute.

Protests Skit On Eleanor's Column

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—A Twentieth Century club skit lampooning Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has resulted in the resignation of Mrs. Norman E. Mack, former Democratic National committee woman, from the club.

The skit, entitled "My Day," was "the worst exhibition of bad taste I have seen in my entire life," Mrs. Mack said.

Mrs. Edward Sharpe, president of the club, where Mrs. Roosevelt is scheduled to speak next Thursday, said the skit was "very pleasant and not unfriendly satire."

Izaak Walton's Of State Convene

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Pennsylvania division of the Izaak Walton League of America opened a two-day annual convention today with committee meetings and registration of delegates.

William S. Livergood, Jr., secretary of internal affairs, is on the program for tonight's session as are J. R. Hoffer, assistant chief engineer of the State Health department, and William E. Montgomery, deputy secretary of forest and waters.

Officers will be elected tomorrow following talks by Fish Commissioner C. A. French and Seth Gordon, executive director of the game commission.

Four Are Held In Sitdown Strikes

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14 (AP)—Four men were held for district court at a hearing before a U. S. commissioner yesterday on charges of staging individual sitdown strikes at an Army work camp near Kane.

The men were remanded to jail in default of $2,000 bond each. FBI agents testified the quartet refused to do duties assigned them in the expectation that home draft boards would reclassify them from conscientious objectors to ministers.

The defendants are Roland L. Hingle, Copack, N. Y.; Robert Lee Martin, Bristol, Va.; William J. Boylan, Newark, O.; and Homer L. Daniel, Lockland, O.

SERVICEMEN BUYING BONDS

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—Servicemen are selling away a lot of their hard-earned money in war bonds.

"They're doing it by allotments, having so much deducted from each month's pay—or buying with cash."

The monthly investments now: Soldiers, about $46,000,000; Navy men, about $12,000,000.

So far the most popular allotment has been $6.25. Taken monthly from a man's pay, in three months, full payment of $18.75 has been made for a $25 bond.

New G.I. Bond

Now there is a new $10 "G.I." bond for servicemen, issued August 1. They can buy it for $7.50. It has to be in one payment.

The bond purchases do double duty: They help servicemen save money for after the war; and they help siphon off an overseas serviceman's loose cash.

With less loose cash, servicemen have less chance to bid up prices in freed or occupied territory. This helps prevent inflation there.

Bond purchases are only part of the money coming out of a serviceman's pay. Allotments also are made for dependents at home, for life insurance, and for a special soldiers' deposit fund.

That deposit fund is a savings account in which servicemen put their money rather through allotments or by direct cash payments.

Senator Truman Meets Jack Garner

With Truman En Route to Los Angeles, Oct. 14 (AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman's vice presidential campaign party rolled steadily westward today after a busy Friday in which he made speeches, shook hands with Texas politicians and talked with former Vice President John Nance Garner.

The meeting with the 75-year-old "Cactus Jack" occurred when the Southern Pacific train to which Truman's car is attached pulled into the station at Uvalde where the two old cronies of senate office building days embraced each other.

Garner, garbed in khaki work shirt and pants, his hands stained from peacan handling, came into town after a day spent shucking corn.

"I was never happier in my life," Garner related. "I'll be 76 next month and expect to live to be 93. He wouldn't talk politics however."

As Garner met Truman beside the train, he told the Missouri nominee: "You're as lively as ever. I believe you're getting younger."

Film Stars Are Scored By Soldiers

Hollywood, Oct. 14 (AP)—Film players named by a servicemen's newspaper as having shirked their jobs in the rough and tough China-Burma-India war theater have reacted to the charges with mild disclaimers or vehement denials.

Comedian Joe E. Brown, one of those named by the C. B. I. roundup in arraignment of top-flight players performing in that sector, was pretty philosophic.

"I love those kids too much to criticize them," said the 53-year-old Brown. "I thought I'd covered all the places I could go, and one of the officers told me there weren't 200 men in the whole theater I had missed."

Joel McCrea, named in the roundup editorial as a husky six-footer who didn't want any part of the C. B. I. theater, said at Jackson, Miss., that he'd never been invited to the area.

"But it's not too hot, or sticky or tough there for me," he added.

ASLEEP IN THE CLASSROOM

KILLED IN CRASH

Tarentum, Pa., Oct. 14 (AP)—The coroner reported Richard Buckhold, 37, of Tarentum, "as killed when his automobile skidded on the River road in Harrisburg township and struck a stone wall yesterday."

SCOUTS MEET MONDAY

The Central Girl Scouts of St. James church will hold their first fall meeting in the scout room of the church Monday, at 7 o'clock. All Scouts are urged to attend.

ULCA SESSION TO NOMINATE NEW OFFICERS

Minneapolis, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Committee on Nominations was scheduled to make its report to the convention of the United Lutheran Church in America at the opening of this morning's session here. At the conclusion of the morning meeting, the election for membership on all board not previously named, will be held.

Greetings of Twin Cities Lutheran presidents were extended at last night's meeting which was presided over by U.L.C.A. President J. A. Aagaard. R. H. Gerberding, president of the English Evangelical Lutheran Synod of the Northwest, responded.

The Board of American Missions reported late yesterday that church activities have been deeply shaken by the war and pointed out that the biggest need of the church is men for the ministry.

Jewish Liberties

"If all chaplains now in the service were to return to civilian life tomorrow and all the seminary seniors were to be ordained at once, there would not be enough to shepherd vacant parishes," Dr. Zena M. Corbe, New York city, declared.

The board said neglected negro and rural areas and the demand for work among the nation's war-workers migrants were the fields where ministers were needed today. The church now has 762 home mission congregations with a total membership of 137,791.

Dr. Arnold F. Keller, Utica, N. Y., proposed a resolution pledging church support in the preservation of Jewish liberties throughout the nation. The resolution was approved.

PROGRESS SLOW IN NORTH ITALY

Rome, Oct. 14 (AP)—British and American troops supported by low flying fighters and fighter bombers hammered out small gains in furious fighting yesterday against a fanatical German defense of the Po valley.

Allied headquarters announced that Fifth Army troops seized some new hills in the central sector south of Bologna, while Eighth Army forces to the east pushed the Germans back along the entire battle line, except in the Adriatic coastal sector.

At the same time it was disclosed that another contingent of Brazilian troops had arrived in the battle zone. The original Brazilian expeditionary force, which has been operating in difficult country on the west flank of the U. S. Fifth Army push to Bologna, yesterday captured Coreglia, five miles north-west of Bagni di Lucca.

American troops fought their way up Hill 462, about nine miles south-west of Castel San Pietro, on the Bologna-Rimini highway.

Along Highway 65, the main road north of Bologna from Florence, there was intense fighting. West of the highway American units pushed forward about two miles and captured Mount di Bambiana.

Martin Charges Padded Payrolls

Westfield, Mass., Oct. 14 (AP)—Major General Edward Martin, Republican Governor of Pennsylvania, says that the "left wing has taken over the New Deal, just as the New Deal took over the historic Democratic party of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson."

In an address delivered at a Republican rally last night, the Pennsylvania governor said "there are issues that we must not forget."

"We must not forget the tremendous pre-war national debt, or the non-war additions to that debt piled up since Pearl Harbor."

"... we dare not forget that the Federal payrolls are padded to buy this election and that more than 3,000,000 Federal workers will march to the polls to vote for the fourth term candidate," Martin said.

Governor Bricker On Radio Tonight

Sacramento, Calif., Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker, "condemning" what he called political implications in rationing, asserted today that the recent release of farm machinery from rationing "undoubtedly was facilitated by the fact the election day is approaching."

The Republican candidate for vice president, in a prepared text released by his campaign staff, said the Sept. 6 announcement that 17 processed foods would be removed from rationing was made from the White House, and added:

"Ordinarily an announcement of this sort would be made by the OPA, but this is an election year. Nov. 7 is circled in red on the White House calendar."

The Ohio governor moved into California after two days of campaigning in Oregon. He will deliver what his staff described as another major address in San Francisco tonight, broadcast at 8:30, Pacific war time, over a Pacific coast (Mutual) network.

STEEL STRIKE MAY BE AVOIDED

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (AP)—A settlement reached late yesterday between representatives of the Midvale company, steel manufacturers, and Federal Labor Union No. 18,887 (AFL), in an effort to avert a strike approved Thursday in balloting conducted under the Smith-Connally act, was before workers today for approval.

No date has been set for a union meeting on the settlement, which if acceptable to the 2,400 workers affected by the issue in dispute, will be submitted to the National War Labor Board.

Meanwhile, Alexander I. Dever, president of the union, appealed to the 7,000 employees of the firm to stay on their jobs despite the vote of 5,026 to 818 in favor of the strike. Results of the strike vote have been certified to President Roosevelt.

The employees affected by the dispute, seek compensation for Saturday and Sunday overtime wages lost when premium pay for the two days, as such, was prohibited by presidential order. The union claims approximately $150,000 in back pay and has rejected several compromise offers by the company.

Two War Labor Board panels have heard arguments of the case, but there have been no final decisions.

Vets' Committee Formed By Martin

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Martin announced today the formation of a governor's advisory committee on veterans affairs to operate under supervision of the state veterans commission.

Martin said the new committee is designed to keep him advised on necessary requirements of the several state departments to properly coordinate rehabilitation, job placement and administration of all benefits to which discharged Pennsylvanians are entitled.

Large Force Heavy Forts Hit Formosa 2-Way Blow

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press War Editor

A "large force" of land-based B-29 Superfortresses slashed at Formosa today in a flaming two-way attack which Tokyo headquarters said was coordinated with a third day's bombing of the island by carrier planes.

Increasing aerial fury over the fortress underlined a Japanese admiral's warning to his people that the American offensive precluded an invasion of the Philippines. He added that landing operations against Formosa and the Ryukyu islands also were possible behind this vast bomb curtain.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the 20th air force, reported that a "large force" of Superfortresses made today's assault and said details would be announced when received.

100 Planes in Raid

A broadcast Japanese communiqué, heard by the Federal Communications commission, said 100 Superfortresses made the raid, following two morning attacks by 450 carrier planes.

There was no confirmation of today's carrier plane attack. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced that fleet air raids Wednesday and Thursday (U. S. time) on Formosa resulted in this destruction: 376 Japanese planes destroyed, 27 ships sunk, 14 ships probably sunk, 26 ships damaged and 37 small craft sunk or damaged.

This havoc, plus extensive damage to military installations, led to belief that an estimated 150,000 Japanese troops in the Philippines have been cut off from effective reinforcement through Formosa. Their inter-island communications are highly vulnerable.

Guerrillas Active

At the same time a Japanese official in Manila reported that "American guerrillas" were harassing Nipponese communication lines in the Philippines and the puppet government's counter measures had "not been satisfactory."

From Monday through Thursday—in attacks on the Ryukyu islands, Formosa and the nearby Pescadore islands and the Philippines—American naval forces have destroyed 520 to 525 airplanes and have sunk or damaged 143 ships and more than 87 small craft. The totals since August 30 are 1,497 planes destroyed and 89 damaged, 428 ships sunk or damaged and 247 small craft sunk or damaged.

All Ships Safe

Not a single American surface vessel was damaged. Japanese aircraft attacked an American task force off Formosa Wednesday night but were repulsed. A total of 45 American planes were lost over Formosa and eight planes, five pilots and three air crewmen over the Ryukyus.

Tokyo claimed the destruction of six American carriers, four other warships and 160 planes.

No Japs on Palau

Nimitz announced the end of all organized Japanese resistance in the southern Palau, where the Americans hold 12 islets. Nipponese remnants still remain on Peleliu and Angaur.

Japanese field dispatches claimed the capture of Kweiping, 70 miles southeast of Lieuchow, below Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi province. The Chinese high command previously reported the Japanese had broken into the city.

British troops in India beat off a Japanese counterattack east of Tiddim.

SPORTSMEN OPEN 80-DAY DUCK SEASON

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania sportsmen today opened an 80-day duck hunting season with prospects that the total bag for the state may exceed 60,000 birds.

Seth Gordon, executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, said "if we get the right kind of weather conditions, it is probable this will be the best duck season in 10 years."

"Usually," he stated, "we have storms toward the end of this month which have the effect of bringing ducks down in numbers and increasing the water supply in streams so hunters can get around in boats."

Closes On Jan. 1

This year's hunting season, which closes Jan. 1 is longer by 10 days than last year's, and the bag limits have been liberalized due to the increasing number of waterfowl reported in the breeding areas of northern United States and Canada.

The regular daily duck limit of 10 shall not include more than one wood duck, but in addition, five mallards, pintails or widgeons, either singly or in the aggregate, may be taken. In addition to the daily bag limit for geese and brant, four Blue geese may be killed.

Shooting is limited to one-half hour before sunrise to sunset until Nov. 1, when the upland game season opens. Then shooting may not begin until 9 a. m. and on Nov. 2, and thereafter, it begins at 8 a. m. and ends at 6 p. m. unless sunset occurs earlier.

Protests Skit On Eleanor's Column

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—A Twentieth Century club skit lampooning Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has resulted in the resignation of Mrs. Norman E. Mack, former Democratic National committee woman, from the club.

The skit, entitled "My Day," was "the worst exhibition of bad taste I have seen in my entire life," Mrs. Mack said.

Mrs. Edward Sharpe, president of the club, where Mrs. Roosevelt is scheduled to speak next Thursday, said the skit was "very pleasant and not unfriendly satire."

Izaak Walton's Of State Convene

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Pennsylvania division of the Izaak Walton League of America opened a two-day annual convention today with committee meetings and registration of delegates.

William S. Livengood, Jr., secretary of internal affairs, is on the program for tonight's session as are J. R. Hoffert, assistant chief engineer of the State Health department, and William E. Montgomery, deputy secretary of forest and waters.

Officers will be elected tomorrow following talks by Fish Commissioner C. A. French and Seth Gordon, executive director of the game commission.

NOT SCARED, THEN

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Yesterday, Friday the 13th, 13 couples were married in the marriage license bureau chapel.

PROGRAM FOR

Fox will be in charge of the devotional period, and Professor Roth will lead in the pledge of the flag. Professor Slaybaugh will deliver his address of welcome and Professor Yost will sing a solo. At 10:40 o'clock Cecil B. Denning will speak on "Junior Red Cross Activities in the Public Schools," following which Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams county War Finance committee, will speak on "Schools at War."

Two subjects, "Standard Practices in School Lighting," and "Meeting the Needs of Superior Children," will be discussed by Leversia L. Powers at 11:20 o'clock. Adjournment will be at 12 o'clock.

Wilhelms to Speak

Platform guests at the morning session will include Professors Whiteley, Gruver, Hamm and King. Departmental programs will open the Thursday afternoon session at St. James church. Fred T. Wilhelms will address the meeting of high school principals and teachers on "Consumer Education"; the elementary principals and teachers will witness a demonstration in reading by pupils from the fourth grade of the New Oxford school under the direction of Miss Z. Ruth Sponseller. Miss Wise also will speak. Discussion will follow both programs at the sectional meetings.

Professor Slaybaugh will preside at the general session at 2:50 o'clock in the adult Sunday school room, and the Rev. Mr. Sherwood will deliver his address at 3 o'clock. Supplies and textbook exhibits may be viewed at the Hotel Gettysburg annex from 3:45 to 5 o'clock.

Professor King will preside Friday morning and the Rev. Mr. Gibson will conduct the devotionals. Business will include the report of the nominating committee of which Clarence P. Keefer is chairman; election of officers; report of the resolutions committee, Professor Hamm chairman; treasurer's report; and a discussion from the floor of old and new business.

At 10 o'clock Miss Jean E. Taylor, a senior in the Arendtsville vocational school, will present a vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. Elmir S. Deardorff.

Chorus To Sing

Mr. Hock, will give his first address, "Aladdin Had a Lamp," beginning at 10:10 o'clock. Following his talk a male chorus from the Arendtsville vocational school will sing. The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Deardorff, is composed of the following boys: John Allison, Robert Allison, Charles Baker, George Fissel, William Guise, Richard Hall, Charles Lady, Gilbert Lupp, Sterling Singley, Richard Slaybaugh, Edwin Stoner, Richard Swisher, William Warren and Leroy Zeigler.

Mr. Shetter, chairman of the ushers, will report on the election of officers at 11:35 o'clock, and following an address by Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, chairman of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross, the session will adjourn to the St. James church for the banquet.

Platform guests at the morning session will include Professors Stock, G. P. Keefer, Roth, McCauslin and Alma A. Henry.

Professor Bream, as toast master, will introduce the retired teachers and guests after the dinner and a male quartette under the direction of Professor Yost, will sing. Mr. Hock will give his second address on "The Rebirth of a Nation," and at its conclusion the session will be adjourned.

Institute Committees

Members of the nominating committee include Clarence P. Keefer, New Oxford; Professor Whiteley; G. Howard Danner, Berwick township; Cecil R. Snyder, Biglerville; Vernia O. Stock, Butler township; John M. Wisler, Conewago township; Laura A. Roy, Freedom township; Alma E. Henry, Hamilton township; Norman D. Starry, Lattimore township; and J. Blaine Bushey, Menallen township.

The resolutions committee has these members: Professors Hamm, Stock, Gruver, McCauslin; Edgar J. Smith, Huntingdon township; Lloyd L. Stavelly, Littlestown; Gladys V. Rebert, Mount Joy township; Carrie E. Dicks, Reading township; Zora M. Stambaugh, Straban township and Eleanor C. Wolfinger, York Springs borough.

The nominating committee will name at least eight candidates, four of whom will be elected by ballot during the business session. The candidates receiving the two highest numbers of voters will be declared the delegates to represent Adams county at the Pennsylvania State Education Association convention in Harrisburg December 27 to 29. The candidates receiving the next two highest numbers will be alternates.

Two teachers, elected from a slate of at least four candidates, will be named auditors to audit the accounts of the teachers' institute.

BANKERS ELECT

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—A. M. Reid, of Sharon, was elected president and C. F. Labach, of Wilkes-Barre, vice president of the Pennsylvania chapter, American Bankers association, yesterday.

A high grade dairy cow may produce as much as ten tons of milk in a year.

Four Are Held In Sitdown Strikes

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14 (AP)—Four men were held for district court at a hearing before a U. S. commissioner yesterday on charges of staging individual sitdown strikes at an Army work camp near Kane.

The men were remanded to jail in default of $2,000 bond each. FBI agents testified the quartet refused to do duties assigned them in the expectation that home draft boards would reclassify them from conscientious objectors to ministers.

The defendants are Roland L. Hingle, Copako, N. Y.; Robert Lee Martin, Bristol, Va.; William J. Boylan, Newark, O., and Homer L. Daniel, Lockland, O.

SERVICEMEN BUYING BONDS

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—Servicemen are salting away a lot of their hard-earned money in war bonds.

They're doing it by allotments—having so much deducted from each month's pay—or buying with cash.

The monthly investments now: Soldiers, about $46,000,000; Navy men, about $13,000,000.

So far the most popular allotment has been $6.25. Taken monthly from a man's pay, in three months full payment of $18.75 has been made for a $25 bond.

New G.I. Bond

Now there is a new $10 "G.I." bond for servicemen, issued August 1. They can buy it for $7.50. It has to be in one payment.

The bond purchases do double duty:

They help servicemen save money for after the war; and they help siphon off an overseas serviceman's loose cash.

With less loose cash, servicemen have less chance to bid up prices in freed or occupied territory. This helps prevent inflation there.

Bond purchases are only part of the money coming out of a serviceman's pay. Allotments also are made for dependents at home, for life insurance, and for a special soldiers' deposit fund.

That deposit fund is a savings account in which servicemen put their money either through allotments or by direct cash payments.

Senator Truman Meets Jack Garner

With Truman En Route to Los Angeles, Oct. 14 (AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman's vice presidential campaign party rolled steadily westward today after a busy Friday in which he made speeches, shook hands with Texas politicians and talked with former Vice President John Nance Garner.

The meeting with the 75-year-old "Cactus Jack" occurred when the Southern Pacific train to which Truman's car is attached pulled into the station at Uvalde where the two old cronies of senate office building days embraced each other.

Garner, garbed in khaki work shirt and pants, his hands stained from pecan hulling, came into town after a day spent shucking corn.

"I was never happier in my life," Garner related. "I'll be 76 next month and expect to live to be 93."

EAT OVERWEIGHT

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 14 (AP)—A postoffice clerk told Harry McPherson that a package addressed to his son, Ensign Alexander McPherson, was a half-pound overweight.

So McPherson took a 1-pound fruit cake from the box and cut it in half.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college campus, will return today from Minneapolis, Minn., where he attended the 14th annual biennial convention of the United Lutheran church.

Among those who attended the funeral of Mrs. Scott Smith at Newport Thursday were Mrs. M. T. Hartman, Mrs. Fred Haehlen, Mrs. Ida Sperry, Mrs. Henry T. Bream and Mrs. W. C. Sheely.

The Sunday school room of Christ Lutheran church will be open from 2 to 4 o'clock Monday and Tuesday afternoons to receive clothing from members of that church for Russia and the liberated countries of Europe. The project is being conducted by the Gettysburg Council of Church Women, each church being responsible for its own collection.

Mrs. John G. Glenn reviewed the book, "The Music Goes Round," by F. W. Galsberg at the meeting of the Friday Literary club Friday evening at the home of Mrs. William C. Waltemyer, Springs avenue. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. J. I. Burgoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson, Crosby, Minn., are spending a few days' vacation with Mr. and Mrs. George C. Soder, 16 4th street. Mr. Soder is the son of Mrs. Anderson.

STEEL STRIKE MAY BE AVOIDED

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (AP)—A settlement reached late yesterday between representatives of the Midvale company, steel manufacturers, and Federal Labor Union No. 18,887 (AFL), in an effort to avert a strike approved Thursday in balloting conducted under the Smith-Connally act, was before workers today for approval.

No date has been set for a union meeting on the settlement, which if acceptable to the 2,400 workers affected by the issue in dispute, will be submitted to the National War Labor Board.

Meanwhile, Alexander I. Dever, president of the union, appealed to the 7,000 employees of the firm to stay on their jobs despite the vote of 5,026 to 818 in favor of the strike. Results of the strike vote have been certified to President Roosevelt.

The employees affected by the dispute, seek compensation for Saturday and Sunday overtime wages lost when premium pay for the two days, as such, was prohibited by presidential order. The union claims approximately $150,000 in back pay and has rejected several compromise offers by the company.

Two War Labor Board panels have heard arguments of the case, but there have been no final decisions.

Vets' Committee Formed By Martin

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Martin announced today the formation of a governor's advisory committee on veterans affairs to operate under supervision of the state veterans commission.

Martin said the new committee is designed to keep him advised on necessary requirements of the several state departments to properly coordinate rehabilitation, job placement and administration of all benefits to which discharged Pennsylvanians are entitled.

Court Decision In Damage Suit

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—An award of $1,750 has been made by a U. S. district court jury to Samuel J. Myers, Franklin county for a 26-acre orchard taken by the federal government in 1942 as part of Letterkenny Ordnance depot.

A government witness testified the value of the orchard was $1,310, while Myers told the jury he believed the tract was worth $10,400. The suit was entered after a board of viewers award of $2,250 was rejected.

Film Stars Are Scored By Soldiers

Hollywood, Oct. 14 (AP)—Film players named by a servicemen's newspaper as having shirked their jobs in the rough and tough China-Burma-India war theater have reacted to the charges with mild disclaimers or vehement denials.

Comedian Joe E. Brown, one of those named by the C. B. I. roundup in arraignment of top-flight players performing in that sector, was pretty philosophic.

"I love those kids too much to criticize them," said the 53-year-old Brown. "I thought I'd covered all the places I could go, and one of the officers told me there weren't 200 men in the whole theater I had missed."

Joel McCrea, named in the roundup editorial as a husky six-footer who didn't want any part of the C. B. I. theater, said at Jackson, Miss., that he'd never been invited to the area.

"But it's not too hot, or sticky or tough there for me," he added.

Large Force Heavy Forts Hit Formosa 2-Way Blow

By RUSSELL BRINES

Associated Press War Editor

A "large force" of land-based B-29 Superfortresses slashed at Formosa today in a flaming two-way attack which Tokyo headquarters said was coordinated with a third day's bombing of the island by carrier planes.

Increasing aerial fury over the fortress underlined a Japanese admiral's warning to his people that the American offensive preluded an invasion of the Philippines. He added that landing operations against Formosa and the Ryukyu islands also were possible behind this vast bomb curtain.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the 20th air force, reported that a "large force" of Superfortresses made today's assault and said details would be announced when received.

100 Planes in Raid

A broadcast Japanese communiqué, heard by the Federal Communications commission, said 100 Superfortresses made the raid, following two morning attacks by 450 carrier planes.

There was no confirmation of today's carrier plane attack. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced that fleet air raids Wednesday and Thursday (U. S. time) on Formosa resulted in this destruction: 376 Japanese planes destroyed, 27 ships sunk, 14 ships probably sunk, 28 ships damaged and 37 small craft sunk or damaged.

This havoc, plus extensive damage to military installations, led to belief that an estimated 150,000 Japanese troops in the Philippines have been cut off from effective reinforcement through Formosa. Their inter-island communications are highly vulnerable.

Guerrillas Active

At the same time a Japanese official in Manila reported that "American guerrillas" were harassing Nipponese communication lines in the Philippines and the puppet government's counter measures had "not been satisfactory."

From Monday through Thursday—in attacks on the Ryukyu islands, Formosa and the nearby Pescadore islands and the Philippines—American naval forces have destroyed 520 to 525 airplanes and have sunk or damaged 143 ships and more than 87 small craft. The totals since August 30 are 1,497 planes destroyed and 89 damaged, 428 ships sunk or damaged and 247 small craft sunk or damaged.

All Ships Safe

Not a single American surface vessel was damaged. Japanese aircraft attacked an American task force off Formosa Wednesday night but were repulsed. A total of 45 American planes were lost over Formosa and eight planes, five pilots and three air crewmen over the Ryukyus.

Tokyo claimed the destruction of six American carriers, four other warships and 160 planes. Southwest Pacific bombers penetrated as far northward as Leyte in the central Philippines in neutralization strikes reported today.

No Japs on Palau

Nimitz announced the end of all organized Japanese resistance in the southern Palau, where the Americans hold 12 islets. Nipponese remnants still remain on Pelelia and Angaur.

Japanese field dispatches claimed the capture of Kweiping, 70 miles southeast of Lienchow, below Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi province. The Chinese high command previously reported the Japanese had broken into the city.

British troops in India beat off a Japanese counterattack east of Tiddim.

Upper Communities

Lt. Kenneth G. Wenk has been transferred from Camp Richard, Virginia, to a camp near Washington, D. C.

The Upper County Lions club will observe Ladies' Night at a meeting which will be held Tuesday evening at Allenberry Inn, near Boiling Springs. A special program is being arranged by the committee which includes John German, Arnold Orner and M. Leroy Ziegler.

SPORTSMEN OPEN 80-DAY DUCK SEASON

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania sportsmen today opened an 80-day duck hunting season with prospects that the total bag for the state may exceed 60,000 birds.

Seth Gordon, executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, said "if we get the right kind of weather conditions, it is probable this will be the best duck season in 10 years."

"Usually," he stated, "we have storms toward the end of this month which have the effect of bringing ducks down in numbers and increasing the water supply in streams so hunters can get around in boats."

Closes On Jan. 1

This year's hunting season, which closes Jan. 1 is longer by 10 days than last year's, and the bag limits have been liberalized due to the increasing number of waterfowl reported in the breeding areas of northern United States and Canada.

The regular daily duck limit of 10 shall not include more than one wood duck, but in addition, five mallards, pintails or widgeons, either singly or in the aggregate, may be taken. In addition to the daily bag limit for geese and brant, four blue geese may be killed.

Shooting is limited to one-half hour before sunrise to sunset until Nov. 1, when the upland game season opens. Then shooting may not begin until 9 a. m. and on Nov. 2 and thereafter, it begins at 8 a. m. and ends at 6 p. m. unless sunset occurs earlier.

Protests Skit On Eleanor's Column

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—A Twentieth Century club skit lampooning Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has resulted in the resignation of Mrs. Norman E. Mack, former Democratic National committee woman, from the club.

The skit, entitled "My Day" was "the worst exhibition of bad taste I have seen in my entire life," Mrs. Mack said.

Mrs. Edward Sharpe, president of the club, where Mrs. Roosevelt is scheduled to speak next Thursday, said the skit was "very pleasant and not unfriendly satire."

Izaak Waltons Of State Convene

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Pennsylvania division of the Izaak Walton League of America opened a two-day annual convention today with committee meetings and registration of delegates.

William S. Livengood, Jr., secretary of internal affairs, is on the program for tonight's session as is J. R. Hoffert, assistant chief engineer of the State Health department, and William E. Montgomery, deputy secretary of forest and waters.

Officers will be elected tomorrow following talks by Fish Commissioner C. A. French and Seth Gordon, executive director of the game commission.

NOT SCARED, THEN

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Yesterday, Friday the 13th, 13 couples were married in the marriage license bureau chapel.

PROGRAM FOR

Fox will be in charge of the devotional period, and Professor Roth will lead in the pledge of the flag. Professor Slaybaugh will deliver his address of welcome and Professor Yost will sing a solo. At 10:40 o'clock Cecil B. Denning will speak on "Junior Red Cross Activities in the Public Schools," following which Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams county War Finance committee, will speak on "Schools at War."

Two subjects, "Standard Practices in School Lighting," and "Meeting the Needs of Superior Children," will be discussed by Leversia L. Powers at 11:20 o'clock. Adjournment will be at 12 o'clock.

Wilhelms to Speak

Platform guests at the morning session will include Professors Whiteley, Gruver, Hamm and King.

Departmental programs will open the Thursday afternoon session at St. James church. Fred T. Wilhelms will address the meeting of high school principals and teachers on "Consumer Education"; the elementary principals and teachers will witness a demonstration in reading by pupils from the fourth grade of the New Oxford school under the direction of Miss Z. Ruth Sponseller. Miss Wise also will speak. Discussion will follow both programs at the sectional meetings.

Professor Slaybaugh will preside at the general session at 2:50 o'clock in the adult Sunday school room, and the Rev. Mr. Sherwood will deliver his address at 3 o'clock. Supplies and textbook exhibits may be viewed at the Hotel Gettysburg annex from 3:45 to 5 o'clock.

Professor King will preside Friday morning and the Rev. Mr. Gibson will conduct the devotionals. Business will include the report of the nominating committee of which Clarence P. Keefer is chairman; election of officers; report of the resolutions committee, Professor Hamm chairman; treasurer's report; and a discussion from the floor of old and new business.

At 10 o'clock Miss Jean E. Taylor, a senior in the Arendtsville vocational school, will present a vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. Elmina S. Deardorff.

Chorus To Sing

Mr. Hock will give his first address, "Aladdin Had a Lamp," beginning at 10:10 o'clock. Following his talk a male chorus from the Arendtsville vocational school will sing. The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Deardorff, is composed of the following boys: John Allison, Robert Allison, Charles Baker, George Fissel, William Gulse, Richard Hall, Charles Lady, Gilbert Lupp, Sterling Singley, Richard Slaybaugh, Edwin Stoner, Richard Swisher, William Warren and Leroy Zeigler.

Mr. Shetter, chairman of the ushers, will report on the election of officers at 11:35 o'clock, and following an address by Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, chairman of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross, the session will adjourn to the St. James church for the banquet.

Platform guests at the morning session will include Professors Stock, G. P. Keefer, Roth, McCauslin and Alma A. Henry.

Professor Bream, as toast master, will introduce the retired teachers and guests after the dinner and a male quartette under the direction of Professor Yost, will sing. Mr. Hock will give his second address on "The Rebirth of a Nation," and at its conclusion the session will be adjourned.

Institute Committees

Members of the nominating committee include Clarence P. Keefer, New Oxford; Professor Whiteley; G. Howard Danner, Berwick township; Cecil R. Snyder, Biglerville; Verna O. Stock, Butler township; John M. Wisler, Conewago township; Laura E. Roy, Freedom township; Alma A. Henry, Hamiltonban township; Norman D. Starry, Latimore township, and J. Blaine Bushey, Menallen township.

The resolutions committee has these members: Professors Hamm, Stock, Gruver, McCauslin; Edgar J. Smith, Huntingdon township; Lloyd L. Stavelly, Littlestown; Gladys V. Rebert, Mount Joy township; Carrie E. Dicks, Reading township; Zora M. Stambaugh, Straban township and Eleanor C. Wolfinger, York Springs borough.

The nominating committee will name at least eight candidates, four of whom will be elected by ballot during the business session. The candidates receiving the two highest numbers of voters will be declared the delegates to represent Adams county at the Pennsylvania State Education Association convention in Harrisburg December 27 to 29. The candidates receiving the next two highest numbers will be alternates.

Two teachers, elected from a slate of at least four candidates, will be named auditors to audit the accounts of the teachers' institute.

BANKERS ELECT

Harrisburg, Oct. 14 (AP)—A. M. Reid, of Sharon, was elected president and C. F. Labach, of Wilkes-Barre, vice president of the Pennsylvania chapter, American Bankers association, yesterday.

A high grade dairy cow may produce as much as ten tons of milk in a year.

Four Are Held In Sitdown Strikes

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14 (AP)—Four men were held for district court at a hearing before a U. S. commissioner yesterday on charges of staging individual sitdown strikes at an Army work camp near Kane.

The men were remanded to jail in default of $2,000 bond each. FBI agents testified the quartet refused to do duties assigned them in the expectation that home draft boards would reclassify them from conscientious objectors to ministers.

The defendants are Roland L. Hingle, Copako, N. Y.; Robert Lee Martin, Bristol, Va.; William J. Boylan, Newark, O., and Homer L. Daniel, Lockland, O.

SERVICEMEN BUYING BONDS

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—Servicemen are salting away a lot of their hard-earned money in war bonds.

They're doing it by allotments—having so much deducted from each month's pay—or buying with cash.

The monthly investments now: Soldiers, about $46,000,000; Navy men, about $13,000,000.

So far the most popular allotment has been $6.25. Taken monthly from a man's pay, in three months full payment of $18.75 has been made for a $25 bond.

New G.I. Bond

Now there is a new $10 "G.I." bond for servicemen, issued August 1. They can buy it for $7.50. It has to be in one payment.

The bond purchases do double duty: They help servicemen save money for after the war; and they help siphon off an overseas serviceman's loose cash.

With less loose cash, servicemen have less chance to bid up prices in freed or occupied territory. This helps prevent inflation there.

Bond purchases are only part of the money coming out of a serviceman's pay. Allotments also are made for dependents at home, for life insurance, and for a special soldiers' deposit fund.

That deposit fund is a savings account in which servicemen put their money either through allotments or by direct cash payments. In the latter case they take their money to their finance officer who keeps the accounts and credits them with their deposits.

Senator Truman Meets Jack Garner

With Truman En Route to Los Angeles, Oct. 14 (AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman's vice presidential campaign party rolled steadily westward today after a busy Friday in which he made speeches, shook hands with Texas politicians and talked with former Vice President John Nance Garner.

The meeting with the 75-year-old "Cactus Jack" occurred when the Southern Pacific train to which Truman's car is attached pulled into the station at Uvalde where the two old cronies of senate office building days embraced each other.

Garner, garbed in khaki work shirt and pants, his hands stained from pecan hulling, came into town after a day spent shucking corn. "I was never happier in my life," Garner related. "I'll be 76 next month and expect to live to be 93." He wouldn't talk politics however.

As Garner met Truman beside the train, he told the Missouri nominee: "You're as lively as ever. I believe you're getting younger."

EAT OVERWEIGHT

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 14 (AP)—A postoffice clerk told Harry McPherson that a package addressed to his son, Ensign Alexander McPherson, was a half-pound overweight.

So McPherson took a 1-pound fruit cake from the box and cut it in half.

McPherson and the postal clerk ate the overweight.

DEWEY CALLS FOR HONESTY, COMPETENCE

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has selected "the urgent need for honesty and competence in our national government" as the topic of a major campaign speech in St. Louis Monday night.

The Republican presidential nominee in other speeches has challenged directly the competency of the present Democratic leadership, asserting also that on Nov. 7 the American people "will see that we restore integrity to the White House so that its spoken word can be trusted once again."

In his recent Charleston, W. Va., speech, he declared the Roosevelt administration "bungled its way into the conversion for war production." He demanded to know "how in the name of the future of our country can such an administration be entrusted with the vital task of creating peacetime jobs?"

Poses New Question

A governor's office spokesman said it appeared likely Dewey also would discuss support President Roosevelt reportedly was receiving from big city political groups.

The speech, to be broadcast over two national networks (NBC and Blu), will find Dewey in the hometown of Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, and in a state which twice has elected to the United States Senate Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Dewey declined to comment yesterday on published reports of a demand by Senator Ball (R-Minn.) that the two major presidential candidates answer this question:

"Should the vote of the United States representative on the United Nations security council commit an agreed-upon quota of our military forces to action ordered by the council to maintain peace, without requiring further congressional approval?"

NAZIS ON CORFU SURRENDER TO ALLIED TROOPS

Rome, Oct. 14 (AP)—German troops on the Greek island of Corfu have surrendered, Allied headquarters announced today.

At the same time Albanian partisans occupied Delvino, an inland road center above the port of Sarande (Porto Edda) which previously was captured. A Sarande the Allied command announced that delayed action explosives left by the Germans blew up the center of the town but there were no casualties.

The capture of Sarande, which the Nazis had been using as a supply base, cut off the German garrison on Corfu.

Allied headquarters once again was silent on the continuing operations of British land forces and partisans on the Greek mainland.

The light column which marched across the Peloponnese from Patrai last was reported at Corinth.

Bombard Aigina

There still was no official confirmation of yesterday's reports that the Germans had evacuated Athens and that the Greek flag was flying from the Acropolis.

The bombardment of the island of Aigina just off Athens in the Gulf of Saronikos on October 12 by the British light cruiser Colombo was announced.

The communique announced that "the few remaining German troops" on Corfu surrendered but failed to specify the number found on the island.

The capture of Corfu, Sarande and Delvino eliminated both the Albanian coastal road and coastal waters as avenues of escape northward for the Nazis, but the comparatively light opposition that has been encountered in that area indicated that the Germans no longer attached high value to them.

M-DAY

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 14 (AP)—"If our efficiency takes a decided slump," a local board chairman wrote State Selective Service headquarters, "I am offering not an alibi but a valid reason in advance of the catastrophe."

"Monday was M-Day. Our chief clerk asked for time off to get married on Wednesday. Our assistant clerk wanted to know if she could be off to get married on Thursday. The third clerk displayed a diamond ring and said it might happen any day."

"All three young ladies are marrying soldiers. They promised to return to their jobs."

Mosquito Bombers Lambast Cologne

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Mosquito bombers carried out a raid last night on the German industrial city of Cologne, less than 40 miles from Aachen on a straight road to Berlin, preliminary to what looked like a crumpling two-way air attack on the Reich today.

Before noon the German radio reported Allied bombers over northwestern Germany and Austria.

At the same time the Nazi radio said a new type plane known as "Blitz Fighters" soon will be used against Allied air attacks and "will change the face of aerial warfare."

While the main force of Mosquitos was hitting Cologne, a key railroad center, others were attacking unspecified targets elsewhere in western Germany. All aircraft returned.

Rocket-firing RAF Typhoons yesterday smashed their second Nazi field headquarters in three days. Both were located in Holland.

Authorities were told of the soldier by Miss June Ziegler, George's friend, who said that she and Miss Bauerdorf had acted as hostesses at the canteen Wednesday night.

"She resented his actions, but told me she was dancing with him to avoid trouble," Miss Ziegler told Sheriff's Inspector William Penprase, Penprase said the soldier may have waited for Miss Bauerdorf in her car and then gone with her to her apartment.

The body was clad only in the upper half of pajamas, and the torn lower part was found in her disordered bedroom. There was no evidence of robbery, Penprase said.

SEEK SOLDIER IN GIRL'S DEATH

Hollywood, Oct. 14 (AP)—Authorities pressed a widening search today for a man in Army uniform, wanted for questioning in the slaying of Georgeanne Bauerdorf, 20, whose half-clad body was found Thursday in the overflowing bathtub of her apartment.

The hunt was instituted yesterday after a post mortem examination disclosed she had been assaulted and strangled, and a friend reported she had been "cut in" on repeatedly by a jittering soldier at the Hollywood canteen the previous night.

Authorities were told of the soldier by Miss June Ziegler, George's friend, who said that she and Miss Bauerdorf had acted as hostesses at the canteen Wednesday night.

"She resented his actions, but told me she was dancing with him to avoid trouble," Miss Ziegler told Sheriff's Inspector William Penprase, Penprase said the soldier may have waited for Miss Bauerdorf in her car and then gone with her to her apartment.

DEWEY CALLS FOR HONESTY, COMPETENCE

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has selected "the urgent need for honesty and competence in our national government" as the topic of a major campaign speech in St. Louis Monday night.

The Republican presidential nominee in other speeches has challenged directly the competency of the present Democratic leadership, asserting also that on Nov. 7 the American people "will see that we restore integrity to the White House so that its spoken word can be trusted once again."

In his recent Charleston, W. Va., speech, he declared the Roosevelt administration "bungled its way into the conversion for war production." He demanded to know "how in the name of the future of our country can such an administration be entrusted with the vital task of creating peacetime jobs?"

Poses New Question

A governor's office spokesman said it appeared likely Dewey also would discuss support President Roosevelt reportedly was receiving from big city political groups.

The speech, to be broadcast over two national networks (NBC and Blue), will find Dewey in the hometown of Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, and in a state which twice has elected to the United States Senate Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Dewey declined to comment yesterday on published reports of a demand by Senator Ball (R-Minn.) that the two major presidential candidates answer this question:

"Should the vote of the United States representative on the United Nations security council commit an agreed-upon quota of our military forces to action ordered by the council to maintain peace, without requiring further congressional approval?"

NAZIS ON CORFU SURRENDER TO ALLIED TROOPS

Rome, Oct. 14 (AP)—German troops on the Greek island of Corfu have surrendered, Allied headquarters announced today.

At the same time Albanian partisans occupied Delvino, an inland road center above the port of Sarande (Porto Edda) which previously was captured. At Sarande the Allied command announced that delayed action explosives left by the Germans blew up the center of the town but there were no casualties.

The capture of Sarande, which the Nazis had been using as a supply base, cut off the German garrison on Corfu.

Allied headquarters once again was silent on the continuing operations of British land forces and partisans on the Greek mainland. The light column which marched across the Peloponnese from Patrai last was reported at Corinth.

The bombardment of the island of Aigina just off Athens in the Gulf of Saronikos on October 12 by the British light cruiser Colombo was announced.

The communique announced that "the few remaining German troops" on Corfu surrendered but failed to specify the number found on the island.

The capture of Corfu, Sarande and Delvino eliminated both the Albanian coastal road and coastal waters as avenues of escape northward for the Nazis, but the comparatively light opposition that has been encountered in that area indicated that the Germans no longer attached high value to them.

Mosquito Bombers Lambast Cologne

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Mosquito bombers carried out a raid last night on the German industrial city of Cologne, less than 40 miles from Aachen on a straight road to Berlin, preliminary to what looked like a crunching two-way air attack on the Reich today.

Before noon the German radio reported Allied bombers over northwestern Germany and Austria.

At the same time the Nazi radio said a new type plane known as "Blitz Fighters" soon will be used against Allied air attacks and "will change the face of aerial warfare."

While the main force of Mosquitos was hitting Cologne, a key railroad center, others were attacking unspecified targets elsewhere in western Germany. All aircraft returned.

DEWEY CALLS FOR HONESTY, COMPETENCE

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has selected "the urgent need for honesty and competence in our national government" as the topic of a major campaign speech in St. Louis Monday night.

The Republican presidential nominee in other speeches has challenged directly the competency of the present Democratic leadership, asserting also that on Nov. 7 the American people "will see that we restore integrity to the White House so that its spoken word can be trusted once again."

In his recent Charleston, W. Va., speech, he declared the Roosevelt administration "bungled its way into the conversion for war production." He demanded to know "how in the name of the future of our country can such an administration be entrusted with the vital task of creating peacetime jobs?"

Poses New Question

A governor's office spokesman said it appeared likely Dewey would discuss support President Roosevelt reportedly was receiving from big city political groups.

The speech, to be broadcast over two national networks (NBC and Blu), will find Dewey in the hometown of Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, and in a state which twice has elected to the United States Senate Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Dewey declined to comment yesterday on published reports of a demand by Senator Ball (R-Minn.) that the two major presidential candidates answer this question:

"Should the vote of the United States representative on the United Nations security council commit an agreed-upon quota of our military forces to action ordered by the council to maintain peace, without requiring further congressional approval?"

Moscow, Oct. 14 (AP)—Polish Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, here from London in an attempt to resolve the differences between the two rival Polish national groups, conferred for two hours last night with Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

There was no announcement concerning the joint meeting, but it was expected that Mikolajczyk's next move would be a second session, possibly today, with leaders of the Soviet-sponsored Lublin Polish Committee of Liberation.

Even before the Premier went to the Kremlin last night one source expressed confidence that a good blueprint would be drawn there for final settlement of the differences that have kept the London exile government and the Lublin Committee at odds for months.

NAZIS ON CORFU SURRENDER TO ALLIED TROOPS

Rome, Oct. 14 (AP)—German troops on the Greek island of Corfu have surrendered. Allied headquarters announced today.

At the same time Albanian partisans occupied Delvino, an inland road center above the port of Sarande (Porto Edda) which previously was captured. At Sarande the Allied command announced that delayed action explosives left by the Germans blew up the center of the town but there were no casualties.

The capture of Sarande, which the Nazis had been using as a supply base, cut off the German garrison on Corfu.

Allied headquarters once again was silent on the continuing operations of British land forces and partisans on the Greek mainland. The light column which marched across the Peloponnese from Patrai last was reported at Corinth.

Bombard Aigina

There still was no official confirmation of yesterday's reports that the Germans had evacuated Athens and that the Greek flag was flying from the Acropolis.

The bombardment of the island of Aigina just off Athens in the Gulf of Saronikos on October 12 by the British light cruiser Colombo was announced.

The communique announced that "the few remaining German troops" on Corfu surrendered but failed to specify the number found on the island.

The capture of Corfu, Sarande and Delvino eliminated both the Albanian coastal road and coastal waters as avenues of escape northward for the Nazis, but the comparatively light opposition that has been encountered in that area indicated that the Germans no longer attached high value to them.

Ousted Head Of Argentina Dies

Buenos Aires, Oct. 14 (AP)—Dr. Ramon S. Castillo, 72, ousted by a military coup after rising to Argentina's presidency by an accident of fate, died Thursday night.

Elected vice president on a coalition ticket with Roberto M. Ortiz, whom he opposed on international affairs, Castillo was elevated to the higher office June 27, 1942, when the Argentine senate accepted resignation of Ortiz, then ailing and nearly blind. Actually, he had governed Argentina as vice president since July 3, 1940, when Ortiz took leave of absence.

Castillo imposed a policy of so-called prudent neutrality in World war 2.

SEEK SOLDIER IN GIRL'S DEATH

Hollywood, Oct. 14 (AP)—Authorities pressed a widening search today for a man in Army uniform, wanted for questioning in the slaying of Georgette Bauerdorf, 20, whose half-clad body was found Thursday in the overflowing bathtub of her apartment.

The hunt was instituted yesterday after a post mortem examination disclosed she had been assaulted and strangled, and a friend reported she had been "cut in" on repeatedly by a jitterbug soldier at the Hollywood canteen the previous night.

Authorities were told of the soldier by Miss June Ziegler, Georgette's friend, who said that she and Miss Bauerdorf had acted as hostesses at the canteen Wednesday night.

"She resented his actions, but told me she was dancing with him to avoid trouble," Miss Ziegler told Sheriff's Inspector William Penprase. Penprase said the soldier may have waited for Miss Bauerdorf in her car and then gone with her to her apartment.

The body was clad only in the upper half of pajamas, and the torn lower part was found in her disarrayed bedroom. There was no evidence of robbery, Penprase said.

Just Folks

USHER
I have often thought that I Would an usher like to be.
And the good folk satisfy
As they told their wants to me.

I'd be happy, I repeat.
Could I serve as ushers do,
And find everyone a seat
In a satisfactory pew.

I should like to bow and smile,
In an usher-sort of way,
And walk up and down the aisle
With the folks who come to pray.

But I couldn't quite pretend
To be blind as bat or mole
To the money-squeezing friend
Giving dimes to save his soul.

That I'd sneer, I can't deny.
As I lingered at his pew,
Which may be the reason I,
As an usher wouldn't do.

Today's Talk

THERE'S ALWAYS ANOTHER CHANCE

Long ago someone said that "hope springs eternal in the human breast." Which was but another way of saying that there is always a new beginning awaiting him who feels that temporarily he has failed.

People fail within themselves—not in material events, or because of the opinions of someone else. Every human being is his own master, and so long as he recognizes this fact, new attempts, new beginnings and new chances to rise again belong to him by right of his own will.

The late Don Marquis once wrote a beautiful poem in which he stated that he was "full of new beginnings." I have thought of that poem hundreds of times. Yes, every one of us is full of new beginnings, and to every one of us there is always another chance to better oneself, to improve our morale, to make amends for our errors, and to stand up just a deal more proud, and say: "I will take that new chance. I will draw on those new beginnings."

The mother of a large family can understand what mending means. Wear and tear bring it about. Our entire lives are patched here and there. Those patches signify conflict, courage under difficulties, and high resolves. The veteran always proudly exhibits his scars. They mean that he never flinched—but went right forward.

We ought to be reminded that we must not let ourselves down. There is always another chance! Welcome it, instead of wondering whether it is there or not. It's always there. No one has ever been able to travel to the end of the rainbow. Its colorful completeness is an illusion.

Isn't someone else who may be able to give us another chance? We own that right, and privilege. It is bequeathed to us at birth. It is a right that we owe to all that we are, that we must never surrender.

Canada is the world's largest producer of asbestos.

Consider the Pump

Even though summer has gone along with the bluebirds and roses, we're still on the trail of many a serious case of overheating. One of the most interesting things to come to my attention concerns the inefficiency of the pump for the left block of a V-8 engine. The block would start to run too hot and soon the entire engine overheated.

Incidentally, it is a fact that a pump will often continue to operate even with a sheared pin through the pump shaft and impeller. Water will continue to come through to the top of the radiator but not rapidly enough and in reduced volume. A cracked or broken impeller blade will be more noticeable, as will air leakage around the pump. There are endless varieties of overheating but from recent experience I think it would be worth while to consider the pump whenever the reason for overheating seems elusive.

Did You Know That—

Ood to gasoline from under the hood, particularly when going down-hill, is often due to a leaky gasket atop the carburetor float bowl?

Smell of gas when climbing a hill usually means that there is excessive blow by the piston rings and that gas vapor is coming out of the crankcase breathers?

Unwise tightening of the water pump packing nut may score the shaft enough to cause excessive leakage of anti-freeze at this point?

Cap Must Be Right

Every now and again I receive word from some motorist that he is beginning to question the need for accuracy in adjusting breaker points. The latest is from one owner who noticed in a service manual that some engines call for spacing of as much as .040 inch while other engines are supposed to have point spacing of .025 inch. He feels that this lets down the bars and suggests over-emphasis on exact spacing.

How wrong he is. If the points are gapped too wide they will be late in closing, the effect being that there is time for the coil to build up the high tension needed for higher engine speeds. On the other hand, if the points are set too close there is bound to be arcing.

Another point to consider is the difference in engines. Most of them call for a breaker gap of around .025 inch. Exceptions are then rules unto themselves.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"That little oil pressure gauge on the dash is just a guide, and you're wrong in thinking that it necessarily registers the exact pressure of oil circulating within the engine. Low reading usually means that the oil is too light, that the engine is overheating, that there's too much dilution or too little oil, but it could also mean that the spring of the pressure relief valve is weak. Normally oil pressure is higher in a cold engine. If there is an obstruction in one of the lines the pressure will go to maximum."

"The gauge itself really registers air pressure since no oil gets to it. At low speeds oil goes about a quarter way up the line to the gauge, whereas at high speed it may go three quarters the way up. But the gauge just registers the compression of this air in the line. An air leak, therefore, upsets your calculations."

Why It Shows Loss

While there is pilfering of gas and plenty of opportunity for gasoline to leak from an old tank or a loose connection in the gas line to the fuel pump it's wise policy not to jump to conclusions. Test the battery to see if it's up to par. You can do this by noting if the lights are dim, especially when the starter-motor is being used. A weak battery will cause the electric gas gauge to register lower than normal.

Calls for New Pump

One of the most annoying things in operating a car is to call for emergency service and then find that the mechanic has but to pass things going again. A friend of mine had this happen recently, but he was smart enough not to be too certain that the trouble had been corrected. He had originally diagnosed the trouble as a faulty fuel pump because no fuel came from the end of the fuel line when he cranked. Apparently the mechanic filled the carburetor bowl, started the engine and kept the bowl filled because the engine was operating the pump at maximum. My friend allowed the car to stand for several days. Then the same thing happened all over again, just as he expected. As soon as fuel leaked from the carburetor, or percolated out when the engine was stopped after running hot, the pump couldn't send any fuel to the carburetor at cranking speed.

Keep These in Mind

Failure to banish squeaks around the doors, after using a grease stick on the latches, means that the rubber door bumpers should be replaced and the doors possibly re-lubricated.

Much tire wear is due to sticking brake shoes or weak brake shoes return springs, which cause dragging and unequalized braking.

On cars which have interconnected service and hand brakes, it is easier to release the hand brake level by pressing on the brake pedal at the same time.

The Motor Primer

Use of two spark plugs per cylinder calls for an interesting change in timing as compared with ordinary single ignition. With twin ignition, flame propagation, following the initial spark, is more rapid.

Thus it is not necessary to time the spark to arrive as early as with single ignition. It is because ignition can be delayed until the gas mixture is compressed to maximum that the double plug idea continues.

But I couldn't quite pretend
To be blind as bad or mole

Today's Talk
THERE'S ALWAYS ANOTHER CHANCE
Long ago someone said that "hope springs eternal in the human breast." Which was but another way of saying that there is always a new beginning awaiting him who feels that temporarily he has failed.

People fail within themselves — not in material events, or because of the opinions of someone else. Every human being is his own master, and so long as he recognizes this fact, new attempts, new beginnings and new chances to rise again belong to him by right of his own will.

The late Don Marquis once wrote a beautiful poem in which he stated that he was "full of new beginnings." I have thought of that poem hundreds of times. Yes, every one of us is full of new beginnings, and to every one of us there is always another chance to better oneself, to improve our morale, to make amends for our errors, and to stand up just a deal more proud, and say: "I will take that new chance. I will draw on those new beginnings!"

The mother of a large family can understand what mending means. Wear and tear bring it about. Our entire lives are patched here and there. Those patches signify conflict, courage under difficulties, and high resolves. The veteran always proudly exhibits his scars. They mean that he never flinched—but went right forward.

We ought to be reminded that we must not let ourselves down. There is always another chance! Welcome it, instead of wondering whether it is there or not. It's always there. No one has ever been able to travel to the end of the rainbow. Its colorful completeness is an inspiration.

It isn't someone else who may be able to give us another chance. We own that right, and privilege. It was bequeathed to us at birth. It is respect that we owe to all that we are, that we must never surrender!

A man may insist on calling a spade a spade and still not call a tree a tree when he backs into one on a dark night.

Consider the Pump
Even though summer has gone along with the bluebirds and roses we're still on the trail of many a serious case of overheating. One of the most interesting things to come to my attention concerns the inefficiency of the pump for the left block of a V-8 engine. The block would start to run too hot and soon the entire engine overheated. Incidentally, it is a fact that a pump will often continue to operate even with a sheared pin through the pump shaft and impeller. Water will continue to come through to the top of the radiator but not rapidly enough and in reduced volume. A cracked or broken impeller blade will be more noticeable, as will air leakage around the pump. There are endless varieties of overheating but from recent experience I think it would be worth while to consider the pump whenever the reason for overheating seems elusive.

Did You Know That—
Odor to gasoline from under the hood, particularly when going down-hill, is often due to a leaky gasket atop the carburetor float bowl?

Smell of gas when climbing a hill usually means that there is excessive blow by the piston rings and that gas vapor is coming out of the crankcase breathers?

Gap Must Be Right
Every now and again I receive word from some motorist that he is beginning to question the need for accuracy in adjusting breaker points. The latest is from one owner who noticed in a service manual that some engines call for spacing of as much as .040 inch while other engines are supposed to have point spacing of .025 inch. He feels that this lets down the bars and suggests over-emphasis on exact spacing.

How wrong he is. If the points are gapped too wide they will be late in closing, the effect being that there is time for the coil to build up the high tension needed for higher engine speeds. On the other hand, if the points are set too close there is bound to be arcing.

Another point to consider is the difference in engines. Most of them call for a breaker gap of around .025 inch. Exceptions are then rules unto themselves.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"That little oil pressure gauge on the dash is just a guide, and you're wrong in thinking that it necessarily registers the exact pressure of oil circulating within the engine. Low reading usually means that the oil is too light, that the engine is overheating, that there's too much dilution or too little oil, but it could also mean that the spring of the pressure relief valve is weak. Normally oil pressure is higher in a cold engine. If there is an obstruction in one of the lines the pressure will go to maximum."

The Gauge Itself Really Registers
Air pressure since no oil gets to it. At low speeds oil goes about a quarter way up the line to the gauge, whereas at high speed it may go three quarters the way up. But the gauge just registers the compression of this air in the line. An air leak, therefore, upsets your calculations."

Why It Shows Loss
While there is pilfering of gas and plenty of opportunity for gasoline to leak from an old tank or a loose connection in the gas line to the fuel pump it's wise policy not to jump to conclusions. Test the battery to see if it's up to par. You can do this by noting if the lights are dim, especially when the starter-motor is being used. A weak battery will cause the electric gas gauge to register lower than normal.

A friend of mine had this happen recently, but he was smart enough not to be too certain that the trouble had been corrected. A man may insist on calling a spade a spade and still not call a tree a tree when he backs into one on a dark night.

Consider the Pump

Even though summer has gone along with the bluebirds and roses we're still on the trail of many a serious case of overheating. One of the most interesting things to come to my attention concerns the inefficiency of the pump for the left block of a V-8 engine. The block would start to run too hot and soon the entire engine overheated. Incidentally, it is a fact that a pump will often continue to operate even with a sheared pin through the pump shaft and impeller. Water will continue to come through to the top of the radiator but not rapidly enough and in reduced volume. A cracked or broken impeller blade will be more noticeable, as will air leakage around the pump. There are endless varieties of overheating but from recent experience I think it would be worth while to consider the pump whenever the reason for overheating seems elusive.

Did You Know That—
Odor to gasoline under the hood, particularly when going down-hill, is often due to a leaky gasket atop the carburetor float bowl?

Smell of gas when climbing a hill usually means that there is excessive blow by the piston rings and that gas vapor is coming out of the crankcase breathers?

Unwise tightening of the water pump packing nut may score the shaft enough to cause excessive leakage of anti-freeze at this point?

Gap Must Be Right

Every now and again I receive word from some motorist that he is beginning to question the need for accuracy in adjusting breaker points. The latest is from one owner who noticed in a service manual that some engines call for spacing of as much as .040 inch while other engines are supposed to have point spacing of .025 inch. He feels that this lets down the bars and suggests over-emphasis on exact spacing.

How wrong he is. If the points are gapped too wide they will be late in closing, the effect being that there is time for the coil to build up the high tension needed for higher engine speeds. On the other hand, if the points are set too close there is bound to be arcing.

Another point to consider is the difference in engines. Most of them call for a breaker gap of around .025 inch. Exceptions are then rules unto themselves.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"That little oil pressure gauge on the dash is just a guide, and you're wrong in thinking that it necessarily registers the exact pressure of oil circulating within the engine. Low reading usually means that the oil is too light, that the engine is overheating, that there's too much dilution or too little oil, but it could also mean that the spring of the pressure relief valve is weak. Normally oil pressure is higher in a cold engine. If there is an obstruction in one of the lines the pressure will go to maximum."

"The gauge itself really registers air pressure since no oil gets to it. At low speeds oil goes about a quarter way up the line to the gauge, whereas at high speed it may go three quarters the way up. But the gauge just registers the compression of this air in the line. An air leak, therefore, upsets your calculations."

Why It Shows Loss

While there is pilfering of gas and plenty of opportunity for gasoline to leak from an old tank or a loose connection in the gas line to the fuel pump it's wise policy not to jump to conclusions. Test the battery to see if it's up to par. You can do this by noting if the lights are dim, especially when the starter-motor is being used. A weak battery will cause the electric gas gauge to register lower than normal.

Calls for New Pump

One of the most annoying things in operating a car is to call for emergency service and then find that the mechanic has to pass his magic hand over the car to get things going again. A friend of mine had this happen recently, but he was smart enough not to be too certain that the trouble had been corrected. He had originally diagnosed the trouble as a faulty fuel pump because no fuel came from the end of the fuel line when he cranked. Apparently the mechanic filled the carburetor bowl, started the engine and kept the bowl filled because the engine was operating the pump at maximum. My friend allowed the car to stand for several days. Then the same thing happened all over again, just as he expected. As soon as fuel leaked from the carburetor, or percolated out when the engine was stopped after running hot, the pump couldn't send any fuel to the carburetor at cranking speed.

Keep These in Mind

Failure to banish squeaks around the doors, after using a grease stick on the latches, means that the rubber door bumpers should be replaced and the doors possibly rehung.

Much tire wear is due to sticking brake shoes or weak brake shoe return springs which cause dragging and unbalanced braking.

On cars which have interconnected service and hand brakes it is easier to release the hand brake level by pressing on the brake pedal at the same time.

The Motor Primer

Use of two spark plugs per cylinder calls for an interesting change in timing as compared with ordinary single ignition. With twin ignition flame propagation, following the initial spark, is more rapid.

Thus it is not necessary to time the spark to arrive as early as with single ignition. It is because ignition can be delayed until the gas mixture is compressed to maximum that the double plug idea continues

Legion Of Merit
For Eric M. Knight

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Legion of Merit has been posthumously awarded to Eric M. Knight, noted author who was killed Jan. 14, 1943, in a transport plane crash while enroute to Africa from the United States, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service from June 1942 to January 1943.

Disclosure of the award to the author of "This Above All," "Lassie Come Home" and "The Flying York-shireman" was made yesterday in a statement that Capt. Jere Knight, WAC, of Pleasant Valley, Pa., his widow, had been given the medal.
She is stationed here.

YESTERDAY: Having shipped on the S.S. Coromandel as stewardess on a voyage that is to take her home to England from New Zealand where she has been working as a nurse, 25-year-old Cherry Mayne enters an exciting new world. She is attracted to Rory King, dashing young second officer, but learning her new job of caring for passengers keeps her busy at first. Cherry foresees trouble with Julia Scott-Price, a reality widow who doesn't know there's a war on. But the latter's seven-year-old nephew, Terry, whose parents live in England, wins the girl's heart as sailing time approaches.

Chapter 3
Cherry finished unpacking Mrs.
Scott-Price's trunks. She said,
"Would you like me to show Terry his cabin, madam, and help him to bed? I could get him a light supper on a tray. Dinner will not be served until eight."

"Oh, yes, do please, Miss Mayne.
But first can you do something for me? I heard that Sir Douglas Fenimore is traveling with us. I met him in Wellington last year. Delightful man—so clever. And I believe that Weston Park is a gorgeous place—his family seat, you know. I wanted to ask him along for a drink, as we shan't be crossing for dinner. I've got a little cocktail cabinet here. Could you tell him, do you think?"

Cherry blinked. To her, Julia was transparently stupid in spite of her clothes and suave makeup.
Her mouth was perulant and her violet eyes too small. Her manner alternated between brusque conciliation and downright rudeness.

"If you ring for your steward, he will take a message, madam."

"Oh—oh yes. I suppose he could."
Julia eyed the bell vaguely, and Cherry pressed it at once.

"Come along, Terry. I'll have to leave you for a while to see how other people are getting on, but we can unpack your things and you can get undressed."

"Then I'm not to sleep in here?"
Terry demanded, and the relief in his voice was obvious.

"Of course not, darling. I must have some privacy! You've got a great big cabin all to yourself. Run along, Terry. Can't you see Miss Mayne is waiting?"

Terry climbed off the settee and presented his cheek dutifully to Julia, who pursed her lips and pecked at it. "Good night, cherub. I'll come and have a look at you later on."

Cherry held out her hand, but not too obviously, and was pleased when he slipped a small hot paw confidingly into it. They passed through the communicating door into the bathroom and Terry was immediately taken with the shining chromium gadgets that worked the shower.

He asked shyly, "Miss Mayne, do you think I could have a shower
—not tonight, but soon?"

"Every night, if you like. Terry, I'll show you how it works tomorow. This is your own bathroom.

Yours and Mrs. Scott-Price's."

They entered the further cabin, a replica of the first one except that it contained two berths. Terry glanced around it, finding inspection new after his careful inspection of the other cabin except his own little tin trunk in the middle of the deck. He pounced on that, wrenching at the leather strap.

Cherry said, "Can I help you?
Do you think you could unpack your night things and washing things and make a start while I just run around and look at the other people?"

"Of course." He stood aside politely while she undid the trunk, and knelt to rummage for pajamas.

"Which bed shall I sleep in?"
Miss Annette had come. She would have slept with me." He added, not looking at Cherry, "I hate the dark. Aunt Julia says it's stupid, but I do hate it."

"But it's never really dark on board ship, ins'ead," Cherry told him casually. "There's a nice little blue light outside in the alley, burning all night. You can see it through the transom up there, and your door is never shut. We only pull the curtains across. I think the inside bed is the cosiest, don't you?"

"Yes. I'm glad about the light.
You won't be long, will you?"

"About ten minutes," she promised him, and left him putting the teddy bear to bed. There was something pathetic about his mixture of efficiency and helplessness. She wondered what sort of life he had led for the past two years. Not much of a life, if Aunt Julia had had much to do with it!

The ship's siren gave a deep-throated warning, and the soft throbbing of the engines could be felt far below "A" deck. The sharp, raucous whistle of a tug answered.
That meant they would be moving soon. Here inside, with all the doors and ports closed, it was impossible to see anything. But Cherry's heart throbbed softly in tune with the engines. Soon, it cried happily, soon!

As she passed the open door of Julia's cabin she was hailed, and she felt tempted to pass on. But she was only the stewardess. She couldn't go in and tell the woman what she thought of her meanness to her nephew. She pulled herself together and went in. A tall, middle-aged man was standing inside the door. Cherry sensed reluctance in every inch of him. On the chest of drawers stood a miniature cocktail bar, complete with six small bottles. Julia was rummaging in the wardrobe trunk again.

"Oh, Miss Mayne, there's a shaker somewhere, but I simply can't find it! Could you try that bottom drawer?"

The man—Cherry supposed he was Sir Douglas Fenimore—smiled at her and shook his head. "I'm

tant things to do. Mrs. Scott-Price.

Patrolman Cleared
In Fatal Shooting

Titusville, a. Oct. 14 (AP)—Patrolman Walter Kolobitz was exonerated by a coroner's jury last night in the death of city pound-master Charles Beach, who was shot during an attempt to kill a stray dog.

Deputy Coroner C. M. Sonne said the jury declared the death "accidental," but recommended to city authorities a plan whereby stray dogs be killed either by the pound-master or by a veterinarian with lethal drugs.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—At a recent meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners the tax rate for the year 1945 was fixed at 45 cents for each hundred of assessed valuation of personal and real property. The rate for 1944 was 50 cents. The sewer service charge will remain the same at $2 for each unit.

The financial statement shows cash in banks of $617.02, taxes for 1944 to be collected $1,493.28, due on the sale of the town lot, $375, totaling $2,485.30. The payments to be made during the remainder of the present year, demand note
$300; estimated cost of operations $750; bond from treasury $500, totaling $1,550, leaving $735.30 for bond retirement and sewer reserve account.

A cash deposit will be required from persons and companies where street and paved alley excavations are made as a guarantee that the surface will be replaced in its original condition, the deposit to be refunded when the work of surfacing is completed.

The Emmitsburg Water company has been notified that all fire hydrants are to be tested in the presence of a representative of the Burgess and Commissioners and the Vigilant Hose company.

The sewer disposal plant has been pumped free of the yearly deposit in the settling basins at a cost of $135.

Mrs. Sarah Six Schure, 93, wife of the late Howard Schure, of Selinsgrove, Pa., died Tuesday in Hollywood, California. She was born and raised at Thurmont, and lived there with her parents, the late William and Mary Six, until her marriage. When she moved to Selinsgrove, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Harry Thompson of the above address, and a son, William Schure, of Selinsgrove. She has many friends here. M. F. Shuff, 404 West Main street, and Mrs.
Emma Nimmemaker, 530 Main street, are first cousins. Combined ages of the three of them total 262 years.

The Vigilant Hose company met its regular monthly session at the fireman's hall on Tuesday evening.
Funds will be solicited by letter to purchase a fire engine and other necessary fire fighting equipment.

An official of the company estimated that a truck would cost approximately $4,000. The sum of $3,265.50 is recorded as having been paid to the Prospect Fire Engine company during the year 1930 to cover the cost of the engine now in service. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

head nuts. This is done by squir-ring a little oil around suspected parts when the engine is idling. If there is leakage, bubbles will appear.

Service men often use a little gasoline to squirt around suspected points of air leakage at the carburetor or around the intake manifold. Gasoline that sucks into the intake in this manner will enrich the mixture and usually make an idling engine run faster.

If oil is led to the engine while it is running fast out in the open, any leakage around the exhaust manifold or muffler will quickly show up by escaping smoke.

Q. I am writing you as a last resort to solve my problem of having the transmission gears slip out of mesh. Service men have done everything, even to realigning the transmission and clutch housings.

—G. L. K.

A. Don't forget to consider possibility of misalignment of the cap-screw holes between the clutch and transmission housings. Just a little misalignment here may cause unstable gear engagement. The cap-screw mounting holes can be filed out until the transmission can be set into perfect alignment.

Q. Should breaker points be cleaned frequently? I have heard this point argued at some length, and would like to know the answer.

—G. MCB

A. Glad you asked. Experts say that frequent cleaning isn't necessary since points have a self-cleaning effect. Main thing is for points to be lined up correctly, to have proper contact pressure and to open accurately. Rough spots on the points may be an advantage since they actually give more area of contact.

Q. The gears on my car are shifted automatically through a vacuum booster. My trouble is that the gears tend to stay in first or third, rather than shifting to second or fourth. What's wrong?—W. W. R.

A. Look for a leak in the vacuum system. If none is found, then suspect too fast idling. There could be more technical difficulties, so write me again if the two suggestions I have given you do not solve it.

Q. Is it a sure bet that the radiator core is clogged if water doesn't come out of the drain cock fast?

—G. J. S.

A. No. The drain may be clogged. Poke a long, thin nail into it, while open, and see if dislodging sediment lets the water drain faster. In testing a radiator for flow it is always better to disconnect the lower hose.

Mr. Russel will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him care of The Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply.

YESTERDAY: Having shipped on the S.S. Comandante as stewardess on a voyage that is to take her home to England from New Zealand where she has been working as a nurse, 25-year-old Cherry Mayne enters an exciting new world. She is attracted to Rory King, dashing young second officer, but learning her new job of caring for passengers keeps her busy at first. Cherry foresees trouble with Julia Scott-Price, a wealthy widow who doesn't know there's a war on. But the latter's seven-year-old nephew, Terry, whose parents live in England, wins the girl's heart as sailing time approaches.

Chapter 3
Cherry finished unpacking Mrs. Scott-Price's trunks. She said, "Would you like me to show Terry his cabin, madam, and help him to bed? I could get him a light supper on a tray. Dinner will not be served until eight."

"Oh, yes, do please, Miss Mayne. But first can you do something for me? I heard that Sir Douglas Pennington is traveling with us. I met him in Wellington last year. Delightful man—so clever. And I believe that Weston Park is a gorgeous place—his family seat, you know. I wanted to ask him along for a drink, as we shan't be dressing for dinner. I've got a little cocktail cabinet here. Could you tell him, do you think?"

Cherry blinked. To her, Julia was transparently stupid in spite of her clothes and suave makeup. Her mouth was petulant and her violet eyes too small. Her manner alternated between brusque condescension and downright rudeness. "If you ring for your stewardess, she will take a message, madam."

"Oh—oh yes, I suppose he could," Julia eyed the bell vaguely, and Cherry pressed it at once. "Come along, Terry. I'll have to leave you for a while to see how other people are getting on, but we can unpack your things and you can get undressed."

"Then I'm not to sleep in here?" Terry demanded, and the relief in his voice was obvious.

"Of course not, darling. I must have some privacy! You've got a great big cabin all to yourself. Run along, Terry. Can't you see Miss Mayne is waiting?"

Terry climbed off the settee and presented his cheek dutifully to Julia, who pursed her lips and pecked at it. "Good night, cherub. I'll come and have a look at you later on."

Cherry held out her hand, but not too obviously, and was pleased when he slipped a small hot paw confidently into it. They passed through the communicating door into the bathroom and Terry was immediately taken with the shining chromium gadgets that worked the shower.

"Every night, if you like, Terry. I'll show you how it works to-morrow. This is your own bathroom. Yours and Mrs. Scott-Price's."

They entered the further cabin, a replica of the first one except that it contained two berths. Terry glanced around it, finding nothing new after his careful inspection of the other cabin except his own little tin trunk in the middle of the deck. He pounced on that, wrenching at the leather strap.

Cherry said, "Can I help you? Do you think you could unpack your night things and washing things and make a start while I just run around and look at the other people?"

"Of course," He stood aside politely while she undid the trunk, and knelt to rummage for pajamas. "Which bed shall I sleep in?"

"I wish Annette had come. She would have slept with me," He added, not looking at Cherry. "I hate the dark. Aunt Julia says it's stupid, but I do hate it."

"But it's never really dark on board ship, inside," Cherry told him casually. "There's a nice little blue light outside in the alley, burning all night. You can see it through the transom up there, and your door is never shut. We only pull the curtains across. I think the inside bed is the cozier, don't you?"

"Yes, I'm glad about the light. You won't be long, will you?"

"About ten minutes," she promised him, and left him putting the teddy bear to bed. There was something pathetic about his mixture of efficiency and helplessness. She wondered what sort of life he had led for the past two years. Not much of a life, if Aunt Julia had had much to do with it!

The ship's siren gave a deep-throated warning, and the soft throbbing of the engines could be felt far below "A" deck. The sharp, raucous whistle of a tug answered. That meant they would be moving soon. Here inside, with all the doors and ports closed, it was impossible to see anything. But Cherry's heart throbbed softly in tune with the engines. Soon, it cried happily, soon!

As she passed the open door of Julia's cabin she was hailed, and she felt tempted to pass on. But she was only the stewardess. She couldn't go in and tell the woman what she thought of her meanness to her nephew. She pulled herself together and went in. A tall, middle-aged man was standing inside the door. Cherry sensed reluctance in every inch of him. On the chest of drawers stood a miniature cocktail bar, complete with six small bottles. Julia was rummaging in the wardrobe trunk again.

"Oh, Miss Mayne, there's a shaker somewhere, but I simply can't find it! Could you try that bottom drawer?"

The man—Cherry supposed he was Sir Douglas Pennington—smiled at her and shook his head. "I'm sure Miss Mayne has more important things to do, Mrs. Scott-Price. And to be frank, I prefer sherry to a cocktail before dinner. Won't you come and have a drink with me in the smoke-room? I believe the bar is open."

Legion Of Merit
For Eric M. Knight

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Legion of Merit has been posthumously awarded to Eric M. Knight, noted author who was killed Jan. 14, 1943, in a transport plane crash while en route to Africa from the United States, for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service from June 1942 to January 1943.

Disclosure of the award to the author of "This Above All," "Lassie Come Home" and "The Flying York-shireman," was made yesterday in a statement that Capt. Jere Knight, WAC, of Pleasant Valley, Pa., his widow, had been given the medal. She is stationed here.

YESTERDAY: Having shipped on the S.S. Coromandel as stewardess on a voyage that is to take her home to England from New Zealand where she has been working as a nurse, 25-year-old Cherry Mayne enters an exciting new world. She is attracted to Rory King, dashing young second officer, but learning her new job of caring for passengers keeps her busy at first. Cherry foresees trouble with Julia Scott-Price, a wealthy widow who doesn't know there's a war on. But the latter's seven-year-old nephew, Terry, whose parents live in England, wins the girl's heart as sailing time approaches.

Chapter 3

Cherry finished unpacking Mrs. Scott-Price's trunks. She said, "Would you like me to show Terry his cabin, madam, and help him to bed? I could get him a light supper on a tray. Dinner will not be served until eight."

"Oh, yes, do please, Miss Mayne. But first can you do something for me? I heard that Sir Douglas Fenimore is traveling with us. I met him in Wellington last year. Delightful man—so clever. And I believe that Weston Park is a gorgeous place—his family seat, you know. I wanted to ask him along for a drink, as we shan't be dressing for dinner. I've got a little cocktail cabinet here. Could you tell him, do you think?"

Cherry blinked. To her, Julia was transparently stupid in spite of her clothes and suave makeup. Her mouth was petulant and her violet eyes too small. Her manner alternated between brusque condescension and downright rudeness.

"If you ring for your steward, he will take a message, madam."

"Oh—oh yes, I suppose he could," Julia eyed the bell vaguely, and Cherry pressed it at once.

"Come along, Terry. I'll have to leave you for a while to see how other people are getting on, but we can unpack your things and you can get undressed."

"Then I'm not to sleep in here?" Terry demanded, and the relief in his voice was obvious.

"Of course not, darling. I must have some privacy! You've got a great big cabin all to yourself. Run along, Terry. Can't you see Miss Mayne is waiting?"

Terry climbed out of the settee and presented his cheek dutifully to Julia, who pursed her lips and pecked at it. "Good night, cherub. I'll come and have a look at you later on."

Cherry held out her hand, but not too obviously, and was pleased when he slipped a small hot paw confidently into it. They passed through the communicating door into the bathroom and Terry was immediately taken with the shining chromium gadgets that worked the shower.

morrow. This is your own bathroom. Yours and Mrs. Scott-Price's."

They entered the further cabin, a replica of the first one except that it contained two berths. Terry glanced around it, finding nothing new after his careful inspection of the other cabin except his own little tin trunk in the middle of the deck. He pounced on that, wrenching at the leather strap.

Cherry said, "Can I help you? Do you think you could unpack your night things and washing things and make a start while I just run around and look at the other people?"

"Of course." He stood aside politely while she undid the trunk, and knelt to rummage for pajamas.

"Which bed shall I sleep in?"

Cherry said, "I don't know. I wish Annette had come. She would have slept with me." He added, not looking at Cherry, "I hate the dark. Aunt Julia says it's stupid, but I do hate it."

"But it's never really dark on board ship, inside," Cherry told him casually. "There's a nice little blue light outside in the alley, burning all night. You can see it through the transom up there, and your door is never shut. We only pull the curtains across. I think the inside bed is the cosiest, don't you?"

"Yes, I'm glad about the light. You won't be long, will you?"

"About ten minutes," she promised him, and left him putting the teddy bear to bed. There was something pathetic about his mixture of efficiency and helplessness. She wondered what sort of life he had led for the past two years. Not much of a life, if Aunt Julia had had much to do with it!

The ship's siren gave a deep-throated warning, and the soft throbbing of the engines could be felt far below "A" deck. The sharp, raucous whistle of a tug answered. That meant they would be moving soon. Here inside, with all the doors and ports closed, it was impossible to see anything. But Cherry's heart throbbed softly in tune with the engines. Soon, it cried happily, soon!

As she passed the open door of Julia's cabin she was halted, and she felt tempted to pass on. But she was only the stewardess. She couldn't go in and tell the woman what she thought of her meanness to her nephew. She pulled herself together and went in. A talk, middle-aged man was standing inside the door. Cherry sensed reluctance in every inch of him. On the chest of drawers stood a miniature cocktail bar, complete with six small bottles. Julia was rummaging in the wardrobe trunk again.

"Oh, Miss Mayne, there's a shaker somewhere, but I simply can't find it! Could you try that bottom drawer?"

The man—Cherry supposed he was Sir Douglas Fenimore—smiled at her and shook his head. "I'm sure Miss Mayne has more important things to do. Mrs. Scott-Price. And to be frank, I prefer sherry to a cocktail before dinner. Won't you come and have a drink with me

Patrolman Cleared
In Fatal Shooting

Titusville, a., Oct. 14 (AP)—Patrolman Walter Kolobitz was exonerated by a coroner's jury last night in the death of city poundmaster Charles Beach, who was shot during an attempt to kill a stray dog.

Deputy Coroner C. M. Sonne said the jury declared the death "accidental," but recommended to city authorities a plan whereby stray dogs be killed either by the poundmaster or by a veterinarian with lethal drugs.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—At a recent meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners the tax rate for the year 1945 was fixed at 45 cents for each hundred of assessed valuation of personal and real property. The rate for 1944 was 50 cents. The sewer service charge will remain the same at $2 for each unit.

The financial statement shows cash in banks of $617.02, taxes for 1944 to be collected $1,493.28, due on the sale of the town lot $375, totaling $2,485.30. The payments to be made during the remainder of the present year, demand note $500; estimated cost of operations $750; bond from treasury $500, totaling $1,750, leaving $735.30 for bond retirement and sewer reserve account.

A cash deposit will be required from persons and companies where street and paved alley excavations are made as a guarantee that the surface will be replaced in its original condition, the deposit to be refunded when the work of surfacing is completed.

The Emmitsburg Water company has been notified that all fire hydrants are to be tested in the presence of a representative of the Burgess and Commissioners and the Vigilant Hose company.

The sewer disposal plant has been pumped free of the yearly deposit in the settling basins at a cost of $135.

Mrs. Sarah Six Schure, 93, wife of the late Howard Schure, of Selinsgrove, Pa., died Tuesday in Hollywood, California. She was born and raised at Thurmont, and lived there with her parents, the late William and Mary Six, until her marriage, when she moved to Selinsgrove. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Harry Thompson of the above address, and a son, William Schure, of Selinsgrove. She has many friends here. M. F. Shuff, 404 West Main street, and Mrs. Emma Nunemaker, 530 Main street, are first cousins. Combined ages of the three of them total 262 years.

The Vigilant Hose company met in regular monthly session at the Fireman's hall on Tuesday evening. Funds will be solicited by letter to purchase a fire engine and other necessary fire fighting equipment. An official of the company estimated that a truck would cost approximately $4,000. The sum of $3,265.50 is recorded as having been paid to the Prospect Fire Engine company during the year 1930 to cover the cost of the engine now in service. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

head nuts. This is done by squirting a little oil around suspected parts when the engine is idling. If there is leakage, bubbles will appear.

Service men often use a little gasoline to squirt around suspected points of air leakage at the carburetor or around the intake manifold. Gasoline that sucks into the intake in this manner will enrich the mixture and usually make an idling engine run faster.

If oil is fed to the engine while it is running fast out in the open air leakage around the exhaust manifold or muffler will quickly show up by escaping smoke.

Opening the Mail

Q. I am writing you as a last resort to solve my problem of having the transmission gears slip out of mesh. Service men have done everything, even to realigning the transmission and clutch housings.

—G. L. K.

A. Don't forget to consider possibility of misalignment of the cap screw holes between the clutch and transmission housings. Just a little misalignment here may cause unstable gear engagement. The cap screw mounting holes can be filed out until the transmission can be set into perfect alignment.

Q. Should breaker points be cleaned frequently? I have heard this point argued at some length, and would like to know the answer.

—G. McB.

A. Glad you asked. Experts say that frequent cleaning isn't necessary since points have a self-cleaning effect. Main thing is for points to be lined up correctly, to have proper contact pressure and to open accurately. Rough spots on the points may be an advantage since they actually give more area of contact.

Q. The gears on my car are shifted automatically through a vacuum booster. My trouble is that the gears tend to stay in first or third, rather than shifting to second or fourth. What's wrong?—W. W. R.

A. Look for a leak in the vacuum system. If none is found, then suspect too fast idling. There could be more technical difficulties, so write me again if the two suggestions I have given you do not solve it.

Q. Is it a sure bet that the radiator core is clogged if water doesn't come out of the drain cock fast?

—G. J. S.

A. No. The drain may be clogged. Poke a long, thin nail into it, while open, and see if dislodging sediment lets the water drain faster. In testing a radiator for flow it is always better to disconnect the lower hose.

Urges Course In Newspaper Reading

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14 (AP)—If intelligent citizenship is to be encouraged, a course in newspaper reading habits should be given in every high school and college. Prof. Franklin Banner, head of the Pennsylvania State College Journalism department, said here yesterday.

Addressing a western Pennsylvania education association meeting, Banner declared: "A good newspaper is an excellent text of current history and contains accounts of the development of all arts and sciences. It stimulates interest in local government and local institutions and provides the necessary incentive for the growth of community consciousness in the young."

Caracas, the capital of Venezuela, was founded in 1567.

Maizie is back in action again—and that means laughs and fun for everyone. Her newest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring picture, "Maizie Goes to Reno," opens Monday at the Majestic theatre. "Maizie Goes to Reno" is a fast-moving, hilarious piece of movie entertainment.

Ann Sothern—for of course she plays Maizie again—is at her freshest and buoyant best in the new picture. On vacation from the airplane plant where she holds down a welding job, Maizie heads for Reno and finds herself mixed up with a gang of forgers when she comes to the aid of a young soldier whose wife is being victimized by the gang.

WEDNESDAY
The first motion picture version of "The Hairy Ape," Eugene O'Neill's famous modern fable of the beauty who reached through a barrel chest and touched a tender heart, starring William Bendix and Susan Hayward, with John Loder and Dorothy Connington in prominent roles, plays at the Majestic theatre, on Wednesday, through United Artists release.

The poisonous pranks of two lovable but distinctly piliated old maids are laughingly recounted in Warner Bros.' lethal farce, "Arsenic and Old Lace," starring Cary Grant, which opens Thursday at the Majestic.

With a brilliant supporting cast including Raymond Massey, Jack Carson, Priscilla Lane and Peter Lorre, the film is based on the stage success of the same name by Joseph Kesselring, which ran for more than four years on Broadway.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" is concerned with two Brooklyn Borgias, whose consuming passion is to murder their lonely male boarders. This they accomplish with the unwitting aid of an equally daft nephew, who thinks he's "Teddy" Roosevelt.

Waynesboro High Here Tonight

It was announced this morning tonight's game will be played regardless of the weather. The Jayvee game listed for this afternoon has been postponed.

This evening at 8 o'clock Coach Mel Dry's Maroons meet Waynesboro high in the 19th renewal of a series begun in 1919. The Tornado holds the edge with 10 wins as against eight for Gettysburg.

The game was originally scheduled for Friday evening but was postponed due to the inclement weather.

Both teams are considered the most likely contestants for the cellar position in the South Penn loop race and the outcome of tonight's fracas will go a long way in determining the final cellar occupant. With each team determined to escape the bottom position, a bitter battle is anticipated.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—A recent United States Lawn Tennis Association bulletin reviewing the amateur-professional "tennis bum" situation pointed out that two years ago the United States board of tennis appeals ruled the association is exempt from federal income taxes "because of the amateur character of our organization and the nature of our work." . . . This helps a lot to explain why the USLTA isn't interested in open tournaments or liberalizing its rules . . . The New York Americans Soccer club, which is losing Dr. Caesar De Rostaing through an Army transfer, has signed Dr. William Nesto of Boston to play fullback. Must be handy to have a patcher-up in the lineup . . . Columbia's most experienced footballer, Otto Apel, has classes until 12:30 today—just two hours before the Lions face Yale at New Haven.

Walker Wear, who resigned yesterday as commissioner — and whether Gen. Phelan will continue as chairman after his term expires Dec. 31 . . . Jedge W. G. Bramham, the minor league boss, is reported recovering rapidly from his illness but he'll be in the hospital several weeks more.

SCRIBE HINTS DARTMOUTH MAY SPRING UPSET

By Ted Meier

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—It hardly seems possible, but Dartmouth may spring the upset of the football season by beating Notre Dame, regarded as the nation's No. 1 eleven, at Boston today.

The unbeaten Irish ruled a heavy pre-game favorite against the yet-to-win Hanover Indians, but until the final gun goes off Dartmouth has a chance to make grid history much as Vienna made turf history in beating Twilight Tear, a 1 to 20 choice, in the Alabama stakes at Belmont in August.

Like Dartmouth, Duke has a golden opportunity to regain prestige by beating Navy at Baltimore; ditto Pitt against Army at West Point and William and Mary against Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

These games, along with the Yale-Columbia tussle at New Haven, top an interesting grid program in the east.

In the Midwest

Ohio State vs. Wisconsin headlines the midwestern fare along with the Illinois-Iowa, Michigan-Northwestern and the Purdue-Iowa Seahawks struggles.

In the south and southeast the Rice-Tulane, Texas Aggies-LSU, Georgia Tech-Auburn, Tennessee-Florida, Virginia-North Carolina Pre-Flights, and Wake Forest-VMI encounters have attracted the most attention.

Mighty Randolph Field, whose fame continues to spread, meets Southern Methodist in the southwest at San Antonio while Texas and Oklahoma tangle at Dallas and Tulsa plays host to Texas Tech.

On the Pacific coast California, which missed by a bare inch in upsetting Southern California last week, plays College of the Pacific; USC tangles with St. Mary's Pre-flight and Washington meets Whitman.

SAM SNEAD IS BACK IN GOLF

By JIMMY JORDAN

Chicago, Oct. 14 (AP)—The boys around the professional golf circuit have a new worry on their minds today—Sam Snead is back, ready to start slugging down golf's gold trail.

Slamming Sam, who had the hottest clubs in golf when he enlisted in the Navy after winning the 1942 professional golfers association title, recently received a medical discharge. And he doesn't intend to let any divots grow under his feet before he goes back to reclaim that crown, and regain ranking as one of the game's leading money winners.

He intends to start down an exhibition trail while awaiting the winter play-for-pay circuit's opening with Bob Hamilton, 1944 PGA titlist, as his companion. The two will get together tomorrow in Evansville, Indiana, Hamilton's home town, in the first of a series of matches that will end in Portland, Oregon, when both go after the Oregon open title.

"I played as much golf as possible while in the service, and I don't think I've lost anything," he said today. "Of course, only tournament competition will tell. I think I'll be able to hang in there, though."

Snead, not attached to any club, said his exhibition schedule included Detroit, Philadelphia, and to Valley Forge, Pa., before the winter "gold trail" begins at Portland.

Soviets Occupy Port In Finland

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Soviet troops have occupied the port of Linnahamara, in the Petsamo area of northern Finland, a Berlin broadcast said Friday.

The Petsamo area was turned over to Russia under terms of Finland's armistice with the Soviet Union and Britain.

Mastery of the area would menace the escape route of German armies trying to get into Norway.

Brownell Attacks Hannegan Charge

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., says an assertion by Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan that "apparently there is a whispering campaign" regarding President Roosevelt's health is "unfounded" and "some more of Hannegan's shenanigans."

Hannegan said yesterday that when he visited the President recently he found him "very vigorous, the picture of health." Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, the president's personal physician, said in Washington that Roosevelt was "in good shape."

Urges Course In Newspaper Reading

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14 (AP)—If intelligent citizenship is to be encouraged, a course in newspaper reading habits should be given in every high school and college. Prof. Franklin Banner, head of the Pennsylvania State College Journalism department, said here yesterday.

Addressing a western Pennsylvania education association meeting, Banner declared:

"A good newspaper is an excellent text of current history and contains accounts of the development of all arts and sciences. It stimulates interest in local government and local institutions and provides the necessary incentive for the growth of community consciousness in the young."

Caracas, the capital of Venezuela, was founded in 1597.

TIMES DON'T CHANGE

Now that the Dodgers have packed away their satin night-gown uniforms for the season, it's safe to point out that when New York first joined the American league, the uniforms consisted of maroon coats, blue suits and stockings and white caps, with letters across the players' chests reading "Greater New York." . . . ## SCRIBE HINTS DARTMOUTH MAY SPRING UPSET

By Ted Meier

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—It hardly seems possible, but Dartmouth may spring the upset of the football season by beating Notre Dame, regarded as the nation's No. 1 eleven, at Boston today.

The unbeaten Irish ruled a heavy pre-game favorite against the yet-to-win Hanover Indians, but until the final gun goes off Dartmouth has a chance to make grid history much as Vienna made turf history in beating Twilight Tear, a 1 to 20 choice, in the Alabama stakes at Belmont in August.

Lake Dartmouth, Duke has a golden opportunity to regain prestige by beating Navy at Baltimore; ditto Pitt against Army at West Point and William and Mary against Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

These games, along with the Yale-Columbia tussle at New Haven, top an interesting grid program in the east.

In the Midwest

Ohio State vs. Wisconsin headlines the midwestern fare along with the Illinois-Iowa, Michigan-Northwestern and the Purdue-Iowa Seahawks struggles.

In the south and southeast the Rice-Tulane, Texas Aggies-LSU, Georgia Tech-Auburn, Tennessee-Florida, Virginia-North Carolina Pre-Flight, and Wake Forest-VMJ encounters have attracted the most attention.

Mighty Randolph Field, whose fame continues to spread, meets Southern Methodist in the southwest at San Antonio while Texas and Oklahoma tangle at Dallas and Tulsa plays host to Texas Tech.

SAM SNEAD IS BACK IN GOLF

By JIMMY JORDAN

Chicago, Oct. 14 (AP)—The boys around the professional golf circuit have a new worry on their minds today—Sam Snead is back, ready to start slamming down golf's gold trail.

Slamming Sam, who had the hottest clubs in golf when he enlisted in the Navy after winning the 1942 professional golfers association title, recently received a medical discharge. And he doesn't intend to let any divots grow under his feet before he goes back to reclaim that crown, and regain ranking as one of the game's leading money winners.

He intends to start down an exhibition trail while awaiting the winter play-for-pay circuit's opening with Bob Hamilton, 1944 PGA titlist, as his companion. The two will get together tomorrow in Evansville, Indiana, Hamilton's home town, in the first of a series of matches that will end in Portland, Oregon, when both go after the Oregon open title.

"I played as much golf as possible while in the service, and I don't think I've lost anything," he said today. "Of course, only tournament competition will tell. I think I'll be able to hang in there, though."

Snead, not attached to any club, said his exhibition schedule included Detroit, Philadelphia, and to Valley Forge, Pa., before the winter "gold trail" begins at Portland.

Soviets Occupy Port In Finland

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Soviet troops have occupied the port of Linahamara, in the Petsamo area of northern Finland, a Berlin broadcast said Friday.

The Petsamo area was turned over to Russia under terms of Finland's armistice with the Soviet Union and Britain.

Petsamo itself still is in German hands, the Transocean agency reported later.

Light German naval forces and Russian speedboats were reported to have clashed off Petsamo, which has been attacked constantly by the Russians from the air during the last few days.

Mastery of the area would menace the escape route of German armies trying to get into Norway.

Brownell Attacks Hannegan Charge

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., says an assertion by Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan that "apparently there is a whispering campaign" regarding President Roosevelt's health is "unfounded" and "some more of Hannegan's shenanigans."

Hannegan said yesterday that when he visited the President recently he found him "very vigorous, the picture of health." Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, the president's personal physician, said in Washington that Roosevelt was "in good shape."

I'm the guy who looked at you from a U.S.O. poster some time ago. I'm the guy for whom you and millions of others gave and gave so generously. I'd like to tell you what was done with your money.

The money you gave last year helped give the boys the tonic of entertainment . . . a personal appearance by Jack Benny in Africa . . . by Gary Cooper in the South Seas . . . and by lovely women stars in remote places where just the sight of a feminine face is enough to make up for weeks and months of loneliness and isolation.

Your dollars made possible the U.S.O.—in addition to many other great services at home and abroad—3,000 U.S.O. clubs and U.S.O. Camp Shows.

The job is bigger this year . . . much bigger. Won't you be bigger than ever this year, too, and give generously?

Urges Course In Newspaper Reading

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14 (AP)—If intelligent citizenship is to be encouraged, a course in newspaper reading habits should be given in every high school and college. Prof. Franklin Banner, head of the Pennsylvania State college Journalism department, said here yesterday.

Addressing a western Pennsylvania education association meeting, Banner declared:

"A good newspaper is an excellent text of current history and contains accounts of the development of all arts and sciences. It stimulates interest in local government and local institutions and provides the necessary incentive for the growth of community consciousness in the young."

Caracas, the capital of Venezuela, was founded in 1567.

MAISIE is back in action again—and that means laughs and fun for everyone. Her newest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring picture, "Maisie Goes to Reno," opens Monday at the Majestic theatre. "Maisie Goes to Reno" is a fast-moving, hilarious piece of movie entertainment.

Ann Sothern—for of course she plays Maisie again—is at her freshest and buoyant best in the new picture. On vacation from the airplane plant where she holds down a welding job, Maisie heads for Reno and finds herself mixed up with a gang of forgers when she comes to the aid of a young soldier whose wife is being victimized by the gang.

WEDNESDAY
The first motion picture version of "The Hairy Ape," Eugene O'Neill's famous modern fable of the beauty who reached through a barrel chest and touched a tender heart, starring William Bendix and Susan Hayward, with John Loder and Dorothy Comingore in prominent roles, plays at the Majestic theatre on Wednesday through United Artists release.

This story is of two individuals on opposite sides of the railroad tracks—a spoiled society girl and a rough-and-ready yet sensitive stoker.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Cary Grant plays one of his most hilarious roles in "Arsenic and Old Lace."

The poisonous pranks of two lovable but distinctly piliated old maids are laughingly recounted in Warner Bros.' lethal farce, "Arsenic and Old Lace," starring Cary Grant, which opens Thursday at the Majestic.

With a brilliant supporting cast including Raymond Massey, Jack Carson, Priscilla Lane and Peter Lorre, the film is based on the stage success of the same name by Joseph Kesselring, which ran for more than four years on Broadway. "Arsenic and Old Lace" is concerned with two Brooklyn Borgias, whose consuming passion is to murder their lonely male boarders. This they accomplish with the unwitting aid of an equally daft nephew, who thinks he's "Teddy" Roosevelt.

Waynesboro High Here Tonight

It was announced this morning tonight's game will be played regardless of the weather. The jayvee game listed for this afternoon has been postponed.

This evening at 8 o'clock Coach Mel Dry's Maroons meet Waynesboro high in the 19th renewal of a series begun in 1919. The Tornado holds the edge with 10 wins as against eight for Gettysburg.

The game was originally scheduled for Friday evening but was postponed due to the inclement weather.

Both teams are considered the most likely contestants for the cellar position in the South Penn loop race and the outcome of tonight's fracas will go a long way in determining the final cellar occupant. With each team determined to escape the bottom position, a bitter battle is anticipated.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—A recent United States Lawn Tennis Association bulletin reviewing the amateur-professional "tennis bum" situation pointed out that two years ago the United States board of tennis appeals ruled the association is exempt from federal income taxes "because of the amateur character of our organization and the nature of our work." . . . This helps a lot to explain why the USLTA isn't interested in open tournaments or liberalizing its rules. . . . The New York Americans Soccer club, which is losing Dr. Caesar De Rostaling through an Army transfer, has signed Dr. William Nesto of Boston to play fullback. Must be handy to have a patcher-up in the lineup. . . . Columbia's most experienced footballer, Otto Apel, has classes until 12:30 today—just two hours before the Lions face Yale at New Haven.

I'm the guy who looked at you from a U.S.O. poster some time ago. I'm the guy for whom you and millions of others gave and gave so generously. I'd like to tell you what was done with your money.

The money you gave last year helped give the boys the tonic of entertainment . . . a personal appearance by Jack Benny in Africa . . . by Gary Cooper in the South Seas . . . and by lovely women stars in remote places where just the sight of a feminine face is enough to make up for weeks and months of loneliness and isolation.

Your dollars made possible the U.S.O.—in addition to many other great services at home and abroad—3,000 U.S.O. clubs and U.S.O. Camp Shows.

The job is bigger this year . . . much bigger. Won't you be bigger than ever this year, too, and give generously?
